Preparation workshop for your public presentations with Neil McLean

Lunch 1.00 – 2.30

2.30 – 4.00: We have arranged for you to meet a selection of younger LSE tutors who are enrolled on the LSE Teaching Certificate. There will be an opportunity for you to discuss a range of issues. Followed by visit to the Library, Language Centre and key places at LSE

Tuesday, 9th March:

Morning: we are arranging for you to observe our teaching team for English for Academic Purposes. It will give you an opportunity to experience some of the issues which you will have to face being part of a multi-lingual teaching force teaching students who do not all have English as their first language.

Lunch 12.30 – 2.00

2.00 – 4.00: Preparation workshop for your micro-teaching with Neil McLean

Wednesday, 10th March:

Morning: Time for you to see lectures/classes/seminars in your subject area. Or to prepare for your micro-teaching in the afternoon.

Afternoon: Micro-teaching of your topics to foundation students at LSE Language Centre. Exact groupings and timings to be given later but you will each teach a group of approximately 8 students for around 45 minutes which will be recorded, and feedback will be given.

Thursday, 11th March: Time for you to see lectures/classes/seminars in your subject area and attend feedback tutorials.

Morning: Feedback

Lunch 12.30 – 14.00: formal lunch in the Senior Dining Room hosted by me and the Head of the European Institute Professor Damien Chalmers

Afternoon: Feedback tutorials or free-time

Friday, 12th march:

Further feedback tutorials to be organised at times to suit. Otherwise day free to follow up any activities you wish to pursue.
