

Eurozone

Growth hinges on exports, low interest rates - study

By Sarah Collins | Friday 09 July 2010

Eurozone growth in the next two years will depend on exports to emerging market economies and low interest rates, research by the European University Institute has shown. Predicting growth of 1% of GDP this year and 1.6% next year for the 16-country...