Tenth Mediterranean Research Meeting

Florence, 25-28 March 2009

CALL TO DIRECT A WORKSHOP

deadline: 15 March 2008

Scholars are invited to send applications to direct a workshop at the Tenth Mediterranean Research Meeting, which will take place near Florence (Italy) on 25-28 March 2009.

Up to fifteen workshop proposals will be selected by a Scientific Committee.

Prospective applicants should read carefully in advance the essential information on the Meeting's web pages:

www.eui.eu/RSCAS/Research/Mediterranean/mrm2009/

Goal of the Meeting

The goal of the Meeting is to promote high-quality, original and innovative research, both theoretical and empirical, from law, history, economics and across the social sciences on key themes and topics related to the Middle East, North Africa, Southern and South-Eastern Europe, and their relations with Europe.

Workshop Directors

Each workshop will be jointly run by two workshop directors who should complement each other in terms of institutional affiliation and national background. Ideally, one workshop director should be based in the Middle East, North Africa, or South-Eastern Europe.

Applications should be made jointly by two directors.

See the web pages for full details of criteria and the role of workshop directors.
