EUI Doctoral Programme

The European University Institute (EUI) will open its call for Ph.D. applications in November. It offers fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes in Economics, History and Civilization, Law, and Political and Social Sciences.

Why choose the EUI for your Ph.D.?

- Join a culturally diverse academic community – study alongside more than 900 scholars from over 60 countries
- Develop your intellectual curiosity – well-structured Ph.D. programmes that enable original research in four disciplines
- A dynamic multi-lingual environment – work predominantly in English, while enjoying the view on the beautiful city of Florence
- Fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes – approximately 150 scholarships offered annually
- Be part of an international professional network – EUI alumni hold positions in academia (69%), international organisations (12%), national institutions (6%) and the private sector (4%) – data source: Alumni Destination Survey 2014

The call for Ph.D. applications opens in November. You will have until 31 January 2017 to complete and submit your online application form to start an EUI Ph.D. in September 2017.

For detailed information on research themes, application requirements, grants and eligibility:

- http://www.eui.eu/Phd
- applyres@eui.eu
- +39 055 4685 373

EUI Doctoral Programme in Political and Social Sciences

The European University Institute (EUI) will soon open the call for applications for its Doctoral Programme in Political and Social Sciences.

The EUI offers fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes, with approximately 150 scholarships available that cover tuition fees and provide a monthly grant. The Department of Political and Social Sciences explores political and social change within and beyond Europe.

Why choose the Department of Political and Social Sciences?

- Study the important issues of our time that the social sciences are uniquely suited to – Ph.D. opportunities across politics and comparative politics, political theory, international relations, and sociology
- Enter an interdisciplinary world – by uniting key fields within political and social sciences, EUI researchers and research projects interact on an unprecedented level
- Collaborate with distinguished scholars and policy-makers – present and discuss your ideas with the world-leading experts who regularly visit the Department
- Discover your intellectual dynamism – EUI Ph.D. programmes give you the close supervision to build your knowledge, alongside the freedom to undertake independent research
- Connect globally – EUI graduates work within academia, European and national-level government institutions, international organisations and the private sector

Why choose the EUI for your Ph.D.?

- Join a culturally diverse academic community – study alongside more than 900 scholars from over 60 countries
- Develop your intellectual curiosity – well-structured Ph.D. programmes that enable original research in four disciplines
- A dynamic multi-lingual environment – work predominantly in English, while enjoying the view on the beautiful city of Florence
- Fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes – approximately 150 scholarships offered annually
- Be part of an international professional network – EUI alumni hold positions in academia (69%), international organisations (12%), national institutions (6%) and the private sector (4%) – data source: Alumni Destination Survey 2014

The call for Ph.D. applications opens in November. If you want to start your Ph.D. in Political and Social Sciences at the EUI in September 2017, then you must complete and submit your online application by 31 January. You are encouraged to start your application as soon as possible, in order to give your referees time to supply your references before the January deadline.

For detailed information on research themes, application requirements, grants and eligibility:

- http://www.eui.eu/Phd
- applyres@eui.eu
- +39 055 4685 373

EUI Doctoral Programme in Economics

The European University Institute (EUI) will soon open the call for applications for its Doctoral Programme in Economics.

The EUI offers fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes, with approximately 150 scholarships available that cover tuition fees and provide a monthly grant. The Department of Economics is producing the next generation of top-class economics researchers.

Why choose the Department of Economics?

- Study all the main fields within economics – Ph.D. opportunities across theoretical and applied topics
- Be part of a cohesive community – benefit from close supervision and on-going support by the excellent professors at the EUI
- Learn from the experts – present, discuss and interact with the world leaders in their field who regularly visit the Department
- Develop your employability – receive comprehensive training, assistance and preparation for the job market and beyond
- Build networks – EUI graduates pursue successful careers in academia, and in the private and public sector, across the globe

Why choose the EUI for your Ph.D.?

- Join a culturally diverse academic community – study alongside more than 900 scholars from over 60 countries
- Develop your intellectual curiosity – well-structured Ph.D. programmes that enable original research in four disciplines
- A dynamic multi-lingual environment – work predominantly in English, while enjoying the view on the beautiful city of Florence
- Fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes – approximately 150 scholarships offered annually
- Be part of an international professional network – EUI alumni hold positions in academia (69%), international organisations (12%), national institutions (6%) and the private sector (4%) – data source: Alumni Destination Survey 2014

The call for Ph.D. applications opens in November. If you want to start your Ph.D. in Economics at the EUI in September 2017, then you must complete and submit your online application by 31 January. You are encouraged to start your application as soon as possible, in order to give your referees time to supply your references before the January deadline.

For detailed information on research themes, application requirements, grants and eligibility:

- http://www.eui.eu/Phd
- applyres@eui.eu
- +39 055 4685 373

EUI Doctoral Programme in Law

The European University Institute (EUI) will soon open the call for applications for its Doctoral Programme in Law.

The EUI offers fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes, with approximately 150 scholarships available that cover tuition fees and provide a monthly grant. The Department of Law examines questions of global importance today, offering an LL.M. and a doctoral programme.

Why choose the Department of Law?

- Study the challenges facing European, international and private law – research opportunities across social, cultural, political and economic topics
- Explore global dimensions – the range of interests amongst the Department's faculty allows your research to transcend national boundaries and contexts
- Enjoy a high-level intellectual life – learn from and collaborate with the distinguished practitioners, academics and experts who visit and research within the Department;
- Develop yourself – courses, working groups and tailored supervision gives you the tools needed to write your best possible thesis
- Advance your career – EUI graduates hold important posts around the world in academia, within European, national and international organisations, and across the private sector

Why choose the EUI for your Ph.D.?

- Join a culturally diverse academic community – study alongside more than 900 scholars from over 60 countries
- Develop your intellectual curiosity – well-structured Ph.D. programmes that enable original research in four disciplines
- A dynamic multi-lingual environment – work predominantly in English, while enjoying the view on the beautiful city of Florence
- Fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes – approximately 150 scholarships offered annually
- Be part of an international professional network – EUI alumni hold positions in academia (69%), international organisations (12%), national institutions (6%) and the private sector (4%) – data source: Alumni Destination Survey 2014

The call for Ph.D. applications opens in November. If you want to start your Ph.D. in Law with at the EUI in September 2017, then you must complete and submit your online application by 31 January. You are encouraged to start your application as soon as possible, in order to give your referees time to supply your references before the January deadline.

For detailed information on research themes, application requirements, grants and eligibility:

- http://www.eui.eu/Phd
- applyres@eui.eu
- +39 055 4685 373

EUI Doctoral Programme in History and Civilization

The European University Institute (EUI) will soon open the call for applications for its Doctoral Programme in History and Civilization.

The EUI offers fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes, with approximately 150 scholarships available that cover tuition fees and provide a monthly grant. The Department of History and Civilization examines Europe's relationship to the world.

Why choose the Department of History and Civilization?

- Think beyond boundaries –study global connections within early modern and modern European history
- Explore transnational and comparative European history – access the Historical Archives of the European Union and be supported in visiting other archives
- Benefit from close thesis supervision –professors and researchers create a constructive working environment, developing projects together through close consultation
- Be part of an intellectual cosmopolitan community – meet and discuss with leading scholars, from all over the world, who regularly visit the Department
- Establish international links – EUI graduates are employed in universities, research centres and organisations around the globe

Why choose the EUI for your Ph.D.?

- Join a culturally diverse academic community – study alongside more than 900 scholars from over 60 countries
- Develop your intellectual curiosity – well-structured Ph.D. programmes that enable original research in four disciplines
- A dynamic multi-lingual environment – work predominantly in English, while enjoying the view on the beautiful city of Florence
- Fully-funded four-year Ph.D. programmes – approximately 150 scholarships offered annually
- Be part of an international professional network – EUI alumni hold positions in academia (69%), international organisations (12%), national institutions (6%) and the private sector (4%) – data source: Alumni Destination Survey 2014

The call for Ph.D. applications opens in November. If you want to start your Ph.D. in History and Civilization at the EUI in September 2017, then you must complete and submit your online application by 31 January. You are encouraged to start your application as soon as possible, in order to give your referees time to supply your references before the January deadline.

For detailed information on research themes, application requirements, grants and eligibility:

- http://www.eui.eu/Phd
- applyres@eui.eu
- +39 055 4685 373