

Academy of European Law
Session on Human Rights Law
16 - 27 June 2003

Distinguished Lecture

Is the ILO Effective in Upholding Labour Rights?: Reflections on the Myanmar Case

Francis Maupain, Special Adviser to the Director-General,
International Labour Office

General Course

Neglected Rights: Economic and Social Rights in a Globalized World

Philip Alston, Professor of International Law, New York University

Specialized Courses

Labour Rights as Human Rights

The Role of Labour Rights in a Globalized Economy

Simon Deakin, Robert Monks Professor of Corporate Governance, University of Cambridge

Labour Rights as International Rights

Patrick Macklem, Professor of Law, University of Toronto

Does EU Law Help or Hinder the Protection of Collective Labour Rights?

Anne Davies, Lecturer in Law, University of Oxford

Labour Rights in the Post-Socialist Constitutions

Csilla Kollonay Lehoczky, Professor of Law, Central European University and Eötvös Loránd University

The EU and International Labour Standards

Tonia Novitz, Lecturer in Law, University of Bristol

The Role of Labour Standards in a Future Trade Regime for the Americas

Steve Charnowitz, Attorney, Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering, Washington, D.C.