MAX WEBER FELLOWS – Badia Fiesolana

Name	Law Mentor	Research Theme
Antonio ALOISI	Prof. Kilpatrick	His research focuses on non-standard employment and platform-mediated work both at the individual and the collective level. His interests span employment law and industrial relations.
Pablo Marcelo BAQUERO	Prof. Micklitz	His thesis, 'Networks of Collaborative Contracts for Innovation', examines how legal institutions could be structured to encourage the creation of inter-firm relationships to generate innovation collaboratively
Kim BOUWER	Prof. Scott	While at the EUI, Kim intends to examine the possibilities for small actions in private law, arising from a failure to adapt to climate change.
Claire BRIGHT	Prof. Micklitz	Claire's main research interests focus on Business and Human Rights.
Veronica CORCODEL	Prof. de Witte	As a Max Weber Fellow, Veronica intends to further investigate the ways in which a certain understanding of the notion of forms of life can be useful for critically approaching the European legal framework of migrants' detention.
Janos FIALA-BUTORA	Prof. Kilpatrick	Janos currently focuses on international human rights mechanisms, the rights of persons with disabilities and ethnic minorities.
Emily Victoria HANCOX	Prof. Sadl	Emily plans to build upon her PhD research and explore questions relating to both when and how courts prioritise (or entrench) particular legislative measures or values within legal systems and the implications that flow from this.

Bernardo RANGONI	Prof. Monti	Comparative public policy, especially regulation, notably in network industries.
Cristopher ROBERTS	Prof. Bhuta	Christopher will be working on his new project, focused on the historical development of repressive public order laws in Britain and the British Empire, between the late 19th century and the period of decolonization (roughly 1873-1968).
Athina SACHOULIDOU	Prof. Curtin	Her research interests include substantive & procedural (European) criminal law, corporate & financial law, legal philosophy, bioethics, as well as the regulation of new data technologies.
Anna TZANAKI	Prof. Monti	Anna aims to turn her doctoral research dealing with the competition implications of partial ownership of rival firms into a book publication.
Serkan YOLCU	Prof. Scheinin	As a Max Weber Fellow at the EUI, he will be working on his research project, which will analyze one of the potential solutions that intends to defuse the inevitable tension between constitutionalism and democracy.
