

Max Weber Programme

Social Issues for Social Sciences

9th Max Weber Fellows' June Conference

10-12 June 2015, Badia Fiesolana
San Domenico di Fiesole

The annual June Conference of the Max Weber Programme provides an interdisciplinary perspective on cutting-edge debates in research and academia. It brings together scholars in economics (ECO), history (HEC), law (LAW), and social and political science (SPS). As a forum committed to fostering inter-cohort academic collaboration and cross-institutional exchange, the June Conference features the work of current Max Weber Fellows (MWFs), former MWFs, and postdocs who currently hold EUI Jean Monnet Fellowships or Marie Skłodowska-Curie grants. This year, we are also pleased to welcome Jean Tirole and Gertrude Lübke-Wolff as distinguished speakers.

Day 1 – Wednesday 10 June 2015

08:45-09:00 Registration, Main courtyard

09:00 - 10:30 Session 1, Wednesday Morning

Panel 1.1 (Sala del Capitolo): “The EU Post-Lisbon and After the Crisis: Challenges for the EU, National and Regional Levels of Government”

The panel aims to analyse new constitutional developments triggered by the Treaty of Lisbon and the legal reaction to the Eurozone crisis. Issues like the mutation of the constitutional structure in the EU, national constitutional conditions posed to European integration, the place of the democratic principle in shaping national constitutional identities and the role of regional parliaments in the EU will be discussed.

Coordinator: Cristina Fasone (MWF LAW)

Chair: Martijn Schoonvelde (MWF SPS)

Papers: Giuseppe Martinico (Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna, Pisa), “The Constitutional Implications of the European Union Crisis”

Thomas Beukers (Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs), “The Eurozone Crisis and National Constitutional Conditions to Institutional Change”

Cristina Fasone (MWF LAW), “Do Constitutional Courts Care about Parliaments in the Eurozone Crisis? On the Precedence of the Constitutional Identity Review”

Diane Fromage (MWF LAW), “Regional Parliaments in the Post-Lisbon Era”

Panel 1.2 (Seminar Room 2): “Labour Inequalities and Migration”

This panel analyses the relationship between inequalities in the labour market and migration. The papers focus in particular on questions of migrants’ different skills, uneven access to legal protection, and complicated relationships to other workers.

Coordinator: Michael Kozakowski (MWF HEC)

Chair: Koen Docter (HEC Researcher)

Papers: Michael Kozakowski (MWF HEC), “Vectors of Modernity? The Industrial Ideal and Vocational Training for Migrants in France, 1945-1974”

Gabrielle Clark (Charles Warren Centre, Harvard University), “Guestwork on Trial: Who Comes Out Ahead When Temporary Migrant Labor Goes to Court?”

Emmanuel Comte (MWF HEC), “The Origins of the May 1968 Labour Crisis in France”

Coffee break, 10:30 – 11:00, MWP Terrace

11:00 – 12:30 Session 2, Wednesday Morning

Panel 2.1 (MWP Common Room): “Individual Attitudes and Policy in a Globalized World”

Papers in this panel will explore how individual attitudes change in response to diverse policy challenges nowadays. Drawing on a variety of material and methodological approaches, this panel will address the main questions of individuals’ positions towards issues of domestic and transnational nature.

Coordinator: Michal Onderco (MWF SPS)

Chair: Michal Onderco (MWF SPS)

Papers: Diego Muro (Institut Barcelona d'Estudis Internacionals, Universitat Pompeu Fabra), “Do International Factors Influence Support for Secession? EU Membership in the Cases of Catalonia and Scotland”

Phillip Ayoub (Drexel University) and Jeremiah Garretson (Stony Brook University), “Getting the Message Out: Globalization, Media Context and Changes in National Attitudes toward Homosexuality”

Hent Kalmo (MWF LAW), “One Size Fits All”

Panel 2.2 (Seminar Room 2): “Governing Movement”

This panel brings together scholars engaging with the rules and regulations that are created to govern the movement of people. The formation of migration regimes, the aesthetics of the texts that underlie them and the social implications of the multiple legalities they result in are discussed from different vantage points and by spanning a number of different case studies.

Coordinator: Fran Meissner (MWF SPS)

Chair: Rutger Birnie (SPS Researcher)

Papers: Halit Mustafa Tagma (Ipek University) and Bezen Balamir (Zirve University), “EU’s Multilateral Engagement on Migration: Agenda Setting Through Norm Entrepreneurship”

Julija Sardelic (MWF SPS), “Circular Mobilities and Liminal Legal Statuses: Reconsidering Migration of Romani Minorities in Europe”

Inés Valdez (Ohio State University), “Sovereign Law and US Immigration Enforcement: Punishment, Race and the Organisation of Latino/Immigrant Exclusion”

12:30 – 14:00 Collective Lunch, Sala della Colonna

14:00 – 15:30 Session 3, Wednesday Afternoon

Panel 3.1 (MWP Common Room): “Monetary Policy and Financial Stability”

Using a variety of methods and case studies (both within countries and across the EU), this panel explores the underpinnings, consequences, and tools of monetary policy in modern economies.

Coordinator: Martijn Schoonvelde (MWF SPS)

Chair: Lukas Haffert (MWF SPS)

Papers: Jan Klingelhoefer (RWTH Aachen University), “The Renaissance of Macprudential Monetary Policy Tools: Evidence from China”

Eileen Keller (MWF SPS), “Negotiating the Future of Banking”

Damien Gerard (MWF LAW), “Beyond Appearances: Making Sense of the SSM’s Regulatory Design”

Axelle Arquié (MWF ECO), “Monetary Policy”

Panel 3.2 (Seminar Room 2): “Contracts, Authority and Information”

This panel uses formal principal-agent models to explore how ambiguous information, competitive insurance or social protests affect the bargaining processes that take place with firms and with the government.

Coordinator: Aranzazu Crespo (MWF ECO)

Chair: Agustin Casas (Universidad Carlos III de Madrid)

Papers: Vitor Farinha Luz (MWF ECO), “Characterization and Uniqueness of Equilibrium in Competitive Insurance”

Gianluigi Fioriglio (University of Rome La Sapienza), “Freedom, Authority and Knowledge On-Line: The Dictatorship of the Algorithm”

Panel 4.2 (Seminar Room 2): “International Trade”

Globalisation is the process of international arising from the interchange of world views, products, ideas and other aspects of culture. From the beginnings of globalization to modern multinational production, this panel explores how increased connectivity has changed health, growth and the formation of political identities.

Coordinator: Aranzazu Crespo (MWF ECO)

Chair: Lian Allub (MWF ECO)

Papers: Meha Priyadarshini (MWF HEC), “International Trade in the Early Modern Period”

Yarine Fawaz (CEMFI), “Trade-induced Mortality”

Aranzazu Crespo (MWF ECO) and Marcel Jansen (Universidad Autonoma de Madrid), “The Role of Global Value Chains during the Crisis: Evidence from Spanish and European Firms”

Lian Allub (MWF ECO), “Asymmetric Effects of Trade and FDI”

Panel 4.3 (Sala del Capitolo): “The City and its Migrants”

Cities are hubs for international migration and questions of how to understand the social and political consequences of people moving to and in cities are at the forefront of migrant research. This panel presents three perspectives on the nexus between the city and its migrants by focusing on the complementary issues of citizenship, diversity and trade and their role in social bonding in the city.

Coordinator: Fran Meissner (MWF SPS)

Chair: Julija Sardelic (MWF SPS)

Papers: Dirk Gebhardt (GRITIM-Universitat Pompeu Fabra), “The Role of Cities in Regulating Immigrant Citizenship – in the Case of Barcelona”

David Do Paço (HEC), “The Lucky Condition of Being a Foreigner: Ottoman Merchants in 18th Century Vienna”

Fran Meissner (SPS), “Towards Relational Diversity: Rethinking Migrant Networks”

17:40 – 19:00 Coppa PaWeber, Schifanoia Pitch (Optional Activity)

Day 2 – Thursday 11 June 2015

09:00 – 10:15 Session 5, Thursday Morning

Panel 5.1 (MWP Common Room): “Minorities and Limited Citizenship”

This panel discusses the causes and implications of citizenship rules in different national contexts and moments in history with a special focus on the treatment of minority groups and their integration. The papers presented address problems surrounding the recognition, de jure or de facto, of limited citizenship during war time, under authoritarian regimes and in a democratic system. The contributions highlight the role of ethnicity, self-government and individual and collective rights.

Coordinator: Cristina Fasone (MWF LAW)

Chair: Julija Sardelic (MWF SPS)

Papers: Valerie McGuire (New York University), “At the Borders of Belonging: Italian Imperial Citizenship, Jus Sanguinis and Fascism’s Mediterranean Empire (1912-47)”

Sofiya Grachova (MWF HEC), “Jewish Health Care and Citizenship in Russia through the First World War (1914-1921)”

Jean Beaman (Purdue University), “Boundaries of Citizenship: Social Marginalization among France’s Ethnic Minorities”

Panel 5.2 (Seminar Room 2): “Determinants and Perception of Inequality”

The papers in this panel adopt different methodologies to uncover how institutional settings, culture and historical events contribute to redistribution and (perception of) inequality and to provide a novel normative framework for redistributive justice.

Coordinator: Ylenia Brilli (MWF ECO)

Chair: Robert Lepenies (MWF LAW)

Papers: Juliana Bidadanure (MWF SPS), “Free to Steal: The Ethics of Social Banditism”

Elena Esposito (MWF ECO) and Scott Abramson (MWF SPS), “The Resource Curse in the Long Run. Evidence from Nineteenth Century Coal Extraction in European Regions”

Nan Zhang (MWF SPS), “Anti-Corruption Efforts and Public Opinion in China: Evidence from a Natural Experiment in an Autocratic Regime”

Panel 5.3 (Sala del Capitolo): “Fiscal Policy”

This panel studies fiscal (and some monetary) policy using both theoretical models and empirical data. Questions address, among other issues, the persistence of budget surpluses, the optimal speed for economies to reduce their public debt and the existence ‘self-fulfilling recessions’.

Coordinator: Martijn Schoonvelde (MWF SPS)

Chair: Lian Allub (MWF ECO)

Papers: Florian Stoeckel (MWF SPS), “Left-wing but Unwilling to Support Redistribution? The Case of Public Support for Transnational Fiscal Transfers in the EU”

Federica Romei (MWF ECO), “The Need for (the Right) Speed”

Lukas Haffert (MWF SPS), “Between Distribution and Allocation: The Politics of Indirect Taxation Revisited”

10:15 – 10:45 Coffee break, MWP Terrace

10:45 – 12:00 Plenary Session, Refectory

Keynote lecture by Jean Tirole, Toulouse School of Economics: “Narratives, Imperatives and Moral Reasoning”

Chairs: Ramon Marimon (ECO Professor) and Martin Dumav (MWF ECO)

12:30 – 14:00 Collective Lunch, Sala della Colonna

14:00 – 15:30 Session 6, Thursday Afternoon

Panel 6.1 (MWP Common Room): “Justification and Implications of War”

This panel will address the interlinked relationship between politics and international law in the area of war. Papers, adopting diverse theoretical approaches from both political psychology and legal theory, will offer both arguments based in theory and rigorous study of historical material.

Coordinator: Michal Onderco (MWF SPS)

Chair: Garvan Walshe (MWF SPS)

Papers: Pablo Kalmanovitz (MWF LAW), “Regular War, Jus in bello, and the Ideal of Limited War”

Garvan Walshe (MWF SPS), “Against Revisionist Just War Theory”

Franziska Exeler (Higher School of Economics, Moscow), “Soviet Justice, International Law, and Treason Trials”

Hassan Malik (Toulouse School of Economics), “The Logic of Revolutionary Default in a Globalized World”

Panel 6.2 (Seminar Room 2): “Youth and Family Life: Socialisation and Rights”

The papers in this panel address youth and family organization and identity creation. By examining the choices and strategies youth and family members face in light of new political regimes or recent migration, these papers analyse the production of memory, forms of socialisation with authorities.

Coordinator: Michael Kozakowski (MWF HEC)

Chair: Michael Kozakowski (MWF HEC)

Papers: Sayaka Chatani (MWF HEC), “Youth and the Dual Peripheries: Okinawan Youth and Japan’s Nation-Empire”

Diana Georgescu (MWF HEC), “Between Trauma and Nostalgia: The Politics of Generational Memory in Postsocialist Romania”

Can Aybek (Bremen University of Applied Sciences), “Risk and Uncertainty in Migration Processes: Transnational Couples and Regulations for Spousal Migration”

Panel 6.3 (Sala del Capitolo): “Participatory and Direct Democracy in the European Space and Beyond”

This panel addresses four important aspects related to democratic participation: the role played by exogenous factors (including weather conditions) on voter turnouts; the effects of alcohol bans implemented on election day; the importance of other forms of citizens’ participation besides electoral turnout; and the debates surrounding local referendums on Britain’s European Union membership.

Coordinators: Ylenia Brilli (MWF ECO) and Zoe Lefkofridi (RSCAS-MWF SPS/Salzburg)

Chair: Zoe Lefkofridi (RSCAS-MWF SPS/Salzburg)

Papers: Akis Psygkas (University of Bristol), “The Participatory Democracy Index”
