

Max Weber Programme Transformation, Instability and Diversity

11th Max Weber Fellows' June Conference

7-9 June 2017 Badia Fiesolana
San Domenico di Fiesole

For decades the global order seemed engaged – with a few, though significant, exceptions – in a process of integration across every dimension (economic, political, social, and cultural) and on every level (global, inter-governmental, transnational, regional, national and local). Increasing diversity accompanied integration, leading to both stabilisation and destabilisation of societies. However, in recent years that transformation has slowed down sharply, and in some cases come to a halt. Instability and mounting challenges to the liberal order and approaches across every dimension and on every level have replaced what appeared to be a smooth, inevitable, and supposedly benign ‘progression’ challenging historical consciousness. The diversity championed by the liberal order over the past decades has likewise been met with resistance from those seeking to return to more traditional boundaries, whether national, religious, ethnic, gender, or cultural. Is this the onset of a new era, or just the latest, perhaps temporary, development in an ongoing, open-ended transformation of global societies over the past centuries that has been marked by alternating moments of change and reaction?

This multi-disciplinary conference seeks to answer these questions from a variety of social science and humanities perspectives (historical, political science and sociological, economic, and legal) and represented through the following thematic groupings: Citizenship and Migration; Diversity and Unity - Governance, Constitutionalism and Democracy; Europe in the World - International Relations, International Security, World Politics; Inequality and Efficiency in Education and Labour Markets; Legal, Political and Social Theory - Historical and Contemporary Perspectives; Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa - the Design and Governance of Monetary and Fiscal Policies and Financial Regulation in the European Union; “Knowledge Society” - Interdisciplinary approaches and methodologies.

This year, we are pleased to welcome Claudia Goldin (Harvard University), András Sajó (CEU) and Sarah de Lange (University of Amsterdam) as keynote speakers.
