What do I need to know before I start?

This is a guide to the photographic collection preserved at the Historical Archives of the European Union (HAEU). Currently this collection is composed of more than 60,000 photographs, mainly positives on paper from the 1950s to the 1990s, which form part of 86 separate archival fonds.

These images trace the beginnings of the European institutions by documenting conferences, meetings, institutional visits around the world, key personalities, as well as a plethora of educational and scientific projects throughout Europe. For instance, international cooperation projects financed by the European Communities are well documented in photo collections within the archival fonds of the European Commission and of the other EU Institutions. Campaigns and events of pro-European movements are illustrated in the fonds of the European Movement, the Union des fédéralistes européens (UEF) and that of Claus Schöndube. In the Klaus Meyer fonds, there are photographs of projects in various African countries financed by the European Economic Community in the framework of the Lomé II convention (1978 - 1982) and of the Community's Euro-Arab dialogue (1975), while the fonds of the European Space Agency and of the European Free Trade Association include various audio-visual materials keeping track of their programmes and activities. These visual records are crucial in recounting the history of the European integration process and to offer additional insights into the personal and professional activities of key actors in contemporary European history.

The guide provides information about the exact number of images in each fond, the files where they are located, the dates on which the images were taken and a brief abstract about the content of the images.

This guide will be updated as new image transfers are processed.
