

“for research and postgraduate training in the social sciences and humanities”

is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill

A Joint Chair in Competition Law (LAW/RSC2)

The Department of Law and the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies (RSCAS) call for applications from candidates with academic expertise in the field of European competition law, situated in the broader context of market regulation. Expertise in other areas of economic law, such as intellectual property law or company law, will be an advantage. An interest in contributing to the Centre's established interdisciplinary activities in the fields of European regulation and competition policies is essential.

The Law Department's focus is on the European, comparative and international dimensions of legal scholarship. The successful candidate will be expected to undertake appropriate responsibilities with regard to teaching and supervision of doctoral and LL.M. students, as well as pursue her/his own research. The RSCAS is dedicated to inter-disciplinary and policy research on the major issues concerning the European integration process. The successful candidate will be expected to develop and lead research in the fields mentioned in the profile and to attract research funding on an individual basis and in collaboration with others.

Contracts are for five years, renewable for further three years. The Institute is an equal opportunity employer, and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.

Interested applicants should contact the Head of the Academic Service, Dr. Andreas Frijdal, in order to receive an application and information pack.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 27 September 2009.
