Joint Chair in European Union Competition Law

The Department of Law and the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies (RSCAS) call for applications from candidates with academic expertise in the field of competition law, in particular European Union Competition Law. Candidates should be prepared to supervise doctoral researchers across a wide range of themes in European economic law and expertise in the digital economy will in particular be an advantage. An interest in contributing to the RSCAS's Florence Competition Programme is required as well as a background in interdisciplinary policy-relevant research in the fields of European regulation.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.

Interested applicants should consult www.eui.eu/vacancies for further particulars.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 4 February 2019.
