The European University Institute's School of Transnational Governance seeks to recruit outstanding scholars for

Three Chairs in Transnational Governance

The School of Transnational Governance (STG) (<https://stg.eui.eu/>) was created in 2017 with the aim of delivering teaching and high-level executive education in the methods, knowledge, skills and practice of governance beyond the State. The STG brings the worlds of academia and policy-making together in an effort to operate in a context, both inside and outside Europe, where policy-making increasingly transcends national borders. The main activities of the School are structured around four pillars: (i) Master of Arts in Transnational Governance; (ii) Executive Education for Practitioners; (iii) Policy Leader Fellowships; (iv) High-Level Policy Dialogues.

Candidates should enjoy an international reputation in the social sciences and humanities with an openness to inter-disciplinarity. Their experience and expertise should be within areas relevant to transnational governance in all its forms, especially but not exclusively in the following areas:

- Global South: with particular reference to substantive policy areas related to development, such as economic growth, corruption, poverty reduction or resource-management.
- Global public health: with a transnational outlook, including the 'nexus' of economic risks and social welfare.
- Leadership: including decision-making theory and practice; the interplay of private and public sectors; ethics.
- Transnational law: with particular emphasis on issues, forms and regulation of the law beyond the State.

The successful candidates will support the further development of the STG and will have a proven track-record of innovative course design, programme development and teaching at Master level. Candidates will have a strong publication record, a demonstrated interest in transnational dimensions of public policy, experience in developing and delivering executive education programmes, and a proven ability to mobilise external funding. They will have extensive international networks in public policy domains and/or the private or nongovernmental sector.

The Chairs will support the STG Director, contribute to the recruitment of Master level students, and engage in the design and implementation of the STG's activities. The successful candidates will teach and supervise Master students, and may also supervise EUI doctoral researchers.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.

Interested applicants should consult www.eui.eu/vacancies for further particulars.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 1 March 2021.
