Joint Chair in European Public Policy

The Department of Political and Social Sciences and the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies seek candidates with expertise in the field of European public policy. Experts in all aspects of the policies of the European Union and its Member States will be actively considered. An interest in the interaction between EU integration and its consequences in the domestic policies and the political economies of the Member States is particularly welcome. The successful candidate will have a strong record of empirical research, an interest in research dissemination and communication with stakeholders and a commitment to excellence in postgraduate teaching. The Chair will be held jointly in the Department and the Centre.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.
