

The EUI has an open vacancy for a

Research Assistant in the Department of History and Civilisation and the Alcide De Gasperi Research Centre

Florence, 08 November 2022

Reference: V/RA/HEC_ADGCR/9/2022

Who we are

The European University Institute (EUI) at a glance:

- an international organisation set up in 1972;
- a research university focusing exclusively on postgraduate, doctoral and post-doctoral studies, and advanced research;
- located in the hills overlooking the city of Florence, Italy.

The Institute also hosts the Historical Archives of the European Union.

The Department of History focuses on the history of Europe in the World from the 15th century to the present.

Its members share a common endeavour to rethink the history of Europe with an expanded focus on transnational connections and circulation of ideas, goods and people, and with specific attention to Europeans' diverse roles and places in the world.

The Department specializes in the comparative, transnational and global history of Europe in a long-term perspective, in order to make sense of long cycles of transformation and of the sedimentation of ideas, institutions, social and political formations that have defined Europeans.

Hosted at the EUI, the Alcide De Gasperi Research Centre is a unique hub on research on European cooperation and integration twentieth century to the present that combines the Historical Archives of the European Union and the EUI's Department of History and Civilisation.

About the project

Project Director

Prof. Emmanuel Mourlon-Druol

Project detailsEURECON – The Making of a Lopsided Union: Economic Integration in the European Economic Community, 1957-1992

The goal of EURECON is to explore European policymakers' views about how to make the organisation of the European Economic Community (EEC) fit for the creation of a single currency, from 1957 to 1992. It is often said that the euro has faults of conception. But how did this happen? How was the euro made in such a way that it nearly completely overlooked some critical aspects of monetary unions? The assumption is that in the run-up to the 1992 Maastricht Treaty, European policymakers just did not think properly about how to make the Euro work. Was this really the case? Did European policymakers really overlook the economic foundations of European monetary union?

The project aims to examine European policymakers' debates and proposals, understand the reasons for their success or failure, identify the dynamics of political and economic trade-offs and compromises, shifting priorities, and alternative approaches that were abandoned at the time but recycled later. The project focuses on five work packages: macroeconomic policy coordination, fiscal transfers, capital market integration, banking harmonisation/supervision and the deepening of the common/single market. The project will examine the origins of the issues that are currently bedevilling the European Union (EU) by investigating the period between the creation of the EEC in 1957 and the decision to create a European single currency in 1992.

Job description

The research assistant will provide research assistance to the Director of the project. Main tasks include:

- Collecting and organising data for the constitution of membership lists of committees related to European economic integration;
- Contributing to the project's dissemination efforts;
- Contributing to the organisation of a programme of workshops, seminars, public panels and conferences;
- Contributing to the design and content of the project's database of proposals and network analysis.
