Research Activities: new developments and achievements

Main developments in 2002 were the establishment of: the Pierre Werner Chair Programme on European Monetary Union, the Latin American-Caribbean Forum, the European Energy Law and Regulation Workshop, the masters in Euro-Mediterranean Affairs – MEMA.

Core Research Themes

1. European Institutions and Governance

BRUNO DE WITTE, Joint Chair in European Union Law with the LAW Department, is responsible for the Centre's research in this field. The RSCAS submitted two expressions of interest to the FP6: New Modes of Governance and Enlarging Constitutionalism, Constitutionalising Enlargement. MIRIAM AZIZ is coordinating an application for funding for the latter. The Centre is partner in an FP5 project launched in November coordinated by ARENA (Univ. of Oslo) and directed by Prof. ERIK O. ERIKSEN, Citizenship and Democratic Legitimacy in Europe – CIDEL, with Prof. CHRISTIAN JOERGES (LAW) as EUI partner. Through the EUI Convention Working Group coordinated by MIRIAM AZIZ, HELEN WALLACE and BRUNO DE WITTE, the Centre monitored the Convention on the Future of the European Union. Prof. DE WITTE convened a small group of scholars to produce a policy volume – Ten Reflections on the Constitutional Treaty for Europe. He organised (together with the Univ. of Utrecht, Vienna and Tilburg) a conference on The Emerging Constitution of the European Union. In May, the Centre organised with FP5 funding a conference on E-voting and the European Parliamentary Elections with the Research and Documentation Centre on Direct Democracy – C2D (Univ. of Geneva), and directed by Prof. ALEXANDER TRECHSEL (Univ. of Geneva).

2. European Regulation and Cooperation

Building on the successful experience of the Annual European Competition workshop, Prof. PETER CAMERON convened in October the first Florence Workshop on EU Energy Law and Regulation. The multi-annual EU Competition Law and Policy Workshop, directed by Prof. CLAUS-DIETER EHLERMANN with ISABELA ATANASIU'S assistance, took place in May. The RSCAS hosted its regular conferences for policy makers: the European Electricity Forums and the International Bar Association's annual meeting.

3. The European Economy

MICHAEL ARTIS, Joint Chair with the ECO Department, leads the Centre's work on the European Economy. The Centre established the Pierre Werner Chair Programme on European Monetary Union funded through the generosity of the Luxembourg Government. The chair is being filled on a rotating basis by professorial fellows. Prof. ARTIS pursued research themes on European Money Demand with A. BEYER (ECB), business cycles with Profs. T. PROIETTI (Univ. of Udine) and D. OSBORN (Manchester Univ.) and policy analysis with Profs. M. MARCELLINO (Bocconi Univ.) and A. BANERJEE (ECO). Much of this work has been integrated into the activities of the European Forecasting Network. In February, he convened with Prof. RICHARD ROSE (Univ. of Strathclyde) a workshop on currency independence in an interdependent world, to produce a special issue of the Journal of Public Policy. A joint workshop with the Oxford Review of Economic Policy in September was devoted to an overall appraisal of the EMU. The Euro-Spectator Project directed by Prof. JEAN-VICTOR LOUIS (LAW) had its concluding conference in October in Frankfurt, to examine the period from the 3rd stage of the Economic and Monetary Union until the full introduction of Euro coins and notes.

4. Enlargement of the European Union

In December, the Centre was invited to convene a group of eminent experts from present and future Member States under the chairmanship of WIM KOK, former Prime Minister of The Netherlands, to produce an independent high-level report on the consequences of EU enlargement for the Commission. JAN ZIELONKA, Joint Chair with the SPS Department, responsible for the Centre's research on this theme, coordinated two projects. One was on Minority Protection in a Multicultural Europe, sponsored by the Open Society Institute, and involved a conference discussing minorities, democracy and state-building, looking at experience in EU Member States and its relevance to the candidate states of Eastern Europe. Another project on Public Attitudes to the EU in Central and Eastern Europe, sponsored by the European Commission (DG Enlargement), gathered in a conference experts in public opinion from Western and Eastern Europe in a further session of the working group on Enlargement chaired by HORST-GÜNTHER KRENZLER.

5. Europe's International Relations

The Centre hosts the Latin American-Caribbean Forum, launched in July. This offers the opportunity for scholars to compare the processes of regional integration, political democratisation, human rights and sustainable development. This Forum complements the Transatlantic Programme and the Mediterranean Programme.

Programmes

1. Transatlantic Programme

The Transatlantic Programme, with the BP funded chair activities, continued to work on international trade issues, prepared a study on EU-US economic relations and broadened its coverage of the political relationship. ERNST-ULRICH PETERSMANN, Joint Chair with the LAW Department and responsible for the academic direction of the Programme,

Michael Artis

Helen Wallace, Director of the Robert Schuman Centre

Mark Pollack

organised with MARK POLLACK a second conference on Prevention and Settlement of Economic Disputes in Transatlantic Relations. A new series of conferences on Preparing the Doha Development Round – WTO Negotiators Meet the Academics began with a conference on Improvements and Clarifications of the WTO Dispute Settlement Understanding. Prof. MARK A. POLLACK co-directed, with JOHN PETERSON (Univ. of Glasgow), a conference on Europe, America, Bush: Transatlantic Relations in Transition; and he served as lead author for The Political Economy of the Transatlantic Partnership, a report for H. M. Treasury, United Kingdom, and the Finance Ministry of the Netherlands. He collaborated with the Environmental working group for a conference on the Kyoto Protocol without America. Prof. DAVID M. ANDREWS who succeeded MARK POLLACK works on monetary relations in the broader context of international governance and especially the transatlantic relationship. Occasional lectures were delivered by LORD BRITTAN OF SPENNITHORNE (Vice Chairman, UBS Warburg; former Vice President, European Commission), Prof. JOHN ODELL (Graduate Instit. of Advanced Internat. Studies, Geneva); Prof. RICHARD ROSECRANCE (Univ. of California, Los Angeles), and Prof. KENNETH WALTZ (Columbia Univ., NY), as part of a Global Governance series.

2. The Mediterranean Programme

The Programme draws its funding from the generous support of a group of sponsors: European Investment Bank, Compagnia di San Paolo, Eni spa, Ente Cassa di Risparmio di Fierze, Ente Monte dei Paschi di Siena and Mediocredito Centrale/Capitalia. Its work evolves around the following key themes:

EU Relations with the Mediterranean Region: Prof. GIACOMO LUCIANI, Co-director of the Programme, coordinated with the Bertelsmann Foundation and the Centre for Applied Politics of the Univ. of Munich a Working Group for the Definition of an EU Common Strategy towards the Gulf. Its final report on The EU and the GCC. A New Partnership (RSCAS Policy Paper 02/07) was discussed in a seminar on The Future of Relations between the EU and the GCC, held with the Emirates Centre for Strategic Studies and Research (ECSSR) in Abu Dhabi. A working group, convened by the Bertelsmann Foundation discussed the Iraq issue. IMCO BROUWER, Coordinator of the Programme, co-operated with the Regione Toscana to promote a Consortium of over 30 Mediterranean Universities, including the EUI, to create a Master in Euro-Mediterranean Affairs – MEMA as from 2005. The project was approved in October by the EU INTERREG III/B Programme.

Migration Studies: Prof. Philippe Fargues (RSCAS and Institut national d'études démographiques – INED, Paris) is in charge of this research theme. Its main focus was the development of the Euro-Mediterranean Consortium for Applied Research on International Migration. The 3rd Mediterranean Meeting included the workshop New Generations and the Future of International Migration South of the Mediterranean, co-directed by Prof. FARGUES and Prof. HEBA NASSAR (Cairo Univ.). The Mediterranean Programme Summer School examined Migration in the Euro-Mediterranean Area: Demographic, Economic, Legal, Political and Social Dimensions under Prof. FARGUES' direction.

EU Relations with Turkey: The EU-Turkey Observatory met in April to promote dialogue on Turkey's EU candidacy and its role as a key partner of the EU. It discussed the report by Prof. Lord WILLIAM WALLACE on Reconciliation in Cyprus: the Window of Opportunity, which was also presented in January in Brussels. Prof. LUCIANI also presented a report on The Regulatory Environment for Banking, Energy and Telecommunications, which had issued from discussions of the Working Group on Enlargement (chaired by HORST GÜNTHER KRENZLER).

Energy Issues in the Region: Prof. GIACOMO LUCIANI coordinates activities in this area which includes the new MEDSUPPLY project, a consortium under the EC Synergy programme. Led by the Observatoire Méditerranéen de l'Énergie – OME (Nice), this focuses on the Development of Energy Supplies to Europe from the Southern and Eastern Mediterranean countries and how to promote dialogue with those countries. In July, a conference with Aspen Institute Italia looked at Emerging challenges in the field of energy policy for Europe, the USA and Russia, and from October Prof. LUCIANI convened a Discussion Group on Energy and Politics. The Centre hosted a roundtable on Caspian Oil and Gas Scenarios organised by the International Energy Agency- IEA (Paris).

The Annual Mediterranean Meeting: IMCO BOUWER organised the Third Mediterranean Social and Political Research Meeting (MSPRM), with financial support from the Tuscan Regional Government (Regione Toscana). This is the largest conference in Europe where social scientists from Europe, the Middle East and North Africa discuss for three days original research papers on the Mediterranean region.

3. Gender Studies Programme

A key event was a seminar in recognition of the work of Prof. LUISA PASSERINI, programme Director until June who was succeeded by Prof. SILVANA SCIARRA, with DAWN LYON continuing as Coordinator. The Women in/and the Law series (in collaboration with LAW) included seminars with MARIA EMILIA CASAAS BAAMONDE, (Constitutional Court of Spain, and Univ. Complutense de Madrid); and CAROL SANGER (Columbia Law School). The second Ursula Hirschmann Annual Lecture on Gender and Europe was delivered by BARBARA DUDEN, (JMF and Hannover Univ.). Other activities were a workshop on Welfare, Work and Family: Southern Europe in Comparative Perspective; a seminar on gender and the European convention, with the participation of AGNÈS HUBERT (European Parliament); presentations on biotechnologies and bioethics by BARBARA KATZ ROTHMAN

(CUNY) (in collaboration with SPS) and on gender and consumption by VICTORIA DE GRAZIA. An FP5-funded project on Gender Relationships in Europe at the Turn of the Millennium: Women as Subjects in Migration and Marriage – GRINE, directed by Prof. PASSERINI, continued.

The European Forum

The 2001-2 Forum, Europe in the World: The External Dimensions of Europeanisation, directed by Prof. HELEN WALLACE with Profs. MARK POLLACK and JAN ZIELONKA, looked specifically at the ways in which the EU exports its norms, policies and practices to other European countries and neighbours, and the way in which developments in these other countries are shaped by this form of Europeanisation. The second section in collaboration with the Transatlantic Programme, focused on the EU's relations with the US, and in particular the Union's efforts to minimise the impact of regulatory differences, while the last section examined the changing features of the Common Foreign and Security Policy. The 2002-3 Forum, Europe after Globalisation: Regulatory Cooperation and Regulatory Competition in an Integrating World Economy, hosts eight post-doctoral fellows. It covers policy areas such as financial regulation, the regulation of the public utilities, health and safety regulation, foodstuff regulation, taxation, international trade, labour market regulation, company law, and competition policy in general. In the first term, co-directed by Profs CLAUS-DIETER EHLERMANN and CLAUDIO RADAELLI, the theme was Explaining international regulatory competition. The RSCAS Steering Committee selected for the 2003-4 Forum the theme Constitutionalism in Europe. It will be managed by: BRUNO DE WITTE (RSCAS/LAW Joint Chair), as overall coordinator, with MICHAEL KEATING and MARTIN RHODES (both SPS) and NEIL WALKER and WOJCIECH SADURSKI (both LAW).

Historical Archives of the European Communities

The Institute administers the Historical Archives of the European Communities. Since 1984 they have been the official depository of the historical documents of Community institutions. According to the thirty-year rule, in 2002 the dossiers concerning the accession negotiations of the United Kingdom, Ireland, Denmark and Norway to the EEC were transferred there, for conservation and access to the public.

The Historical Archives of the EC also have the task of collecting, classifying and making accessible the archives that pro-European individuals, movements or organizations decide to entrust to them. After having obtained, at the end of 2001, the deposit of the personal papers of one of the fathers of Europe, ALCIDE DE GASPERI, in 2002 the HAEC collected and classified ten new private holdings, such as the ones of the President of the Executive Commission FRANCO MARIA MALFATTI, of the federalists ERNESTO ROSSI and ALEXANDRE MARC, or of the European Youth Forum.

The Historical Archives are thus each year increasingly becoming a real centre for sources on the history of European construction: in 2002 approximately 400 researchers visited the reading rooms and consulted over 3000 dossiers, leading to the publication of approximately sixty memoirs or theses on European topics.

Integrated with professional networks such as the International Council of Archives or the Group of Archivists of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and the Institutions of the European Union, the Historical Archives also undertook initiatives in the field of science. In 2002 they took part in meetings and conferences organized by the Liaison Group of Historians at the European Commission (in particular, the 8th Conference: Inside the European Community: Actors and Policies in the European Integration from the Rome Treaties to the Creation of the Snake 1958-1972) and by the historians holding Jean Monnet chairs (in particular, the ones associated with the organization and inventory of the 'oral history' part of the project 'Internal History of the European Commission from 1958 to 1972').

An event of particular importance for the Archives was the celebration, on 29 October 2002, of the first depositing of the CEDEFOP archives (European Centre for development of professional training). The heads of the European Agencies held, on that occasion and on an exceptional basis, one of their regular meetings at the Badia Fiesolana. The importance of the intellectual role of the Institute was recognized, and the desire expressed by some to make this centre of excellence the depository of their institutional memories. Among others, participants featured, in particular, NEIL KINNOCK (Vice-President of the European Commission), BART KIEWEIT, (Coordinator of the EU Agencies), GIANFRANCO DELL'ALBA and WILFRIED KUCKELKHORN (European MEPs). Two weeks previously, the Historical Archives, in collaboration with CEDEFOP, had organized an international conference on The History of Vocational Education and Training in Europe in a Comparative Perspective.

The Shop

The EUI shop opened last autumn. It is now in its permanent location in the main entrance of the Badia.

The principal design on shop articles is a reproduction of one of the six tiles on the façade of the Badia Fiesolana with either ‘iue’ or ‘eui’ superimposed. The latest additions to what's on sale are baseball caps and strong cotton bags; these join the original articles: ties (old and new design), umbrellas, notelets, mugs, t-shirts (for adults and children), placemats, postcards and greetings cards.

It is planned to add new items to our stock every so often, so it will always be worthwhile paying a visit to the EUI shop – you never know what you might find there.
