INTRODUCTION

Like an overture to an opera, this introduction serves to prepare its readers for the full details found in the body of this Annual Report, introducing the most prominent leitmotifs of the Institute's activities in 2014.

FRAMEWORK AGREEMENTS WITH EUROPEAN INSTITUTIONS

Deepening the EUI's connections with European institutions was a major priority in 2014, as increased communication and interaction with the Institutions enables us to demonstrate the value of medium and long-term academic research to the European public which supports us. To this end, in March 2014 we signed a Framework Agreement with the European Parliament (see Annex 1), which paves the way for activities such as research visits/internships, staff exchanges, and joint conferences. In July, the European Court of Justice signed a Deposit Agreement (see Annex 2) with the EUI and subsequently transferred its first series of files concerning the judicial historical archives of the Court to the HAEU, thereby strengthening the ECJ's connection to the Institute. Exploratory talks were also launched for an agreement with the Council of Europe, and we are pursuing special agreements with the Joint Research Centre of the European Community and the Directorate for Research at the European Parliament.

OUTREACH TO ITALY

In the persons of the Secretary-General Pasquale Ferrara and myself, the EUI made an official visit on 12 February to the Italian Senate for a meeting with President of the Italian Senate Pietro Grasso. On 24 February we were welcomed at the Quirinale, along with a delegation of 17 researchers and post-doctoral fellows, for an encounter with Italian President Giorgio Napolitano. Both occasions served not only to describe the academic and research activities carried out at the EUI on the process of European integration and related policies, but also to extend personally the EUI's profound gratitude to the Italian Republic for its invaluable patronage in providing the buildings and locations necessary for the Institute to carry out its work. The visit to President Napolitano was especially important because researchers and fellows were invited to present their research projects to the Head of State.

OUTREACH TO ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS

In 2014, the EUI reached out to its 'sister' institutions: the College of Europe in Bruges, the European Institute of Public Administration in Maastricht, the Academy of European Law in Trier, and the Centre international de formation européenne (CIFE) in Nice. The long-term goal of collaborating with these organizations is to maximize the synergetic potential that exists between our different yet complementary research programmes. In October we signed a Framework Agreement with the College of Europe (see Annex 3) setting up academic and administrative collaboration with the aim of exchanging experiences and best practices, and talks have taken place or are planned with the others. While we are now pursuing bilateral agreements, we envisage a second phase in which multi-system framework agreements are pursued among these EU-supported institutions.

In April 2014 we signed a teaching agreement with the University of Florence (See Annex 4). The accord, an important milestone in the relationship between the EUI and the University of Florence, marks the first formal agreement between the two institutions. Under the agreement, EUI researchers may conduct undergraduate classes and seminars, in English, at the University.

In November the EUI and the University of Florence collaborated on a joint-conference at Palazzo Vecchio honouring the memory of Mauro Cappelletti.

The EUI has signed many Framework Agreements with academic institutions over the years, which the Academic Service inventoried in 2014. We now plan to engage in a systematic review of these external arrangements, with a view to developing a consistent strategy in how future Agreements are pursued and designed.

OUTREACH TO FLORENCE AND FIESOLE

The Historical Archives of the European Union carried out two educational programmes for Florentine school children in 2014: 'Under a Good Star' at the primary school level, and 'Florentines: Citizens of Europe' at the secondary level. These programmes brought hundreds of local children in contact with the EUI last year, while introducing them to the history, aims and objectives of the European Union and its institutions in an age-appropriate way. The HAEU also hosted an open day on 10 May, offering visitors tours of the archives and the gardens at Villa Salviati.

In September the city of Fiesole continued with its annual welcome to new EUI researchers, hosting us in the Roman Ampitheatre and introducing us to local government officials and representatives of civic organisations.

The Institute also continues to extend invitations to the local community to participate in major events such as the State of the Union Conference.

OUTREACH TO THE WORLD

Towards our continuing objective to further internationalize the Institute, in 2014 we started exploratory talks or made contact with states in Asia and Latin America, as well as with Australia. Our hope is to develop agreements whereby these governments will fund researcher and post-doctoral fellowships at the EUI for citizens from their own countries.

To our great regret, the Russian Republic announced the termination of its agreement with the EUI, but talks are scheduled to negotiate a reversal of this decision.

INTERNAL COMMUNITY BUILDING

The Institute's immense growth and topographical dispersion since its founding has made it more difficult for the various academic units to come together, at times compromising the force of the disciplines. Moreover, colleagues in the administrative staff, who now number around 200, also perceive divisions across the various seats and services. In 2014 we took various initiatives in the academic and social spheres to overcome these challenges, nurturing inter-disciplinary thought and providing opportunities to increase solidarity within and across the academic and administrative communities, and with alumni.

The EUI Forum on Migration, Citizenship and Demography, launched in November, brings together professors, senior fellows, post-doctoral researchers and PhD students from the four EUI departments, the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies and the Max Weber Programme over a set of themes of common expertise and interest. A two-year programme hosted at the RSCAS, the Forum offers critical analysis, informed debate and policy recommendations.

We continued with regular Town Hall meetings for both researchers and administrative staff. These meetings served not only to bring these groups together in their respective communities, but also to remedy the information gap that sometimes exists between EUI governance and the members themselves.

To strengthen the relationship between the administrative and academic communities, in 2014 heads of services were invited make presentations to the Academic Council. This effort, as well as others, is a step towards valorizing the administration as full citizens of the EUI Community, and not just as employees.

From a social perspective, 4B, administrated by the Academic Services, continues to provide the entire EUI community and its families with opportunities to meet each other through music, art, athletics and other shared interests. Furthermore, the Institute continued to support the special events that bring the community together: the Conferring Ceremony, the June Ball, the Christmas event, and, new in 2014, a staff-organized reception for members of the administration. The Academic Service has provided a special report on these community building initiatives later in this publication.

Finally, efforts to strengthen alumni ties to the Institute included improvements to the alumni web pages, the inauguration of an interview series between alumni and faculty entitled 'Return to your alma mater', an Alumni Weekend in the Autumn, and the creation of 'Alumni Ambassadors' to field questions from prospective doctoral programme candidates during the PhD campaign. The alumni team worked especially hard in the autumn to increase participation in the elections for the Alumni Association's Executive Committee, both in terms of supporting candidates and in terms of increasing turn-out among alumni voters. EUI alumni elected to the Executive Committee for 2014-2016 are Despina Chatzimanoli (President), Costanza Hermanin (Vice-President); Fabian Breuer (Secretary); Christina-Maria Loli (Treasurer) and Carsten Q. Schneider (Member). On the invitation of EUI President, the Alumni Association has also been invited to participate in the 2015 State of the Union Conference.

RESEARCH AND TEACHING

In 2014 a strategic meeting was held discussing the various modalities to better integrate the Research Council into the EUI's academic life. More specifically, we hope to arrive at deeper, inter-disciplinary discussions within the Council on project proposals and expenditures, and to be able to draw upon their international, inter-disciplinary expertise in important decisions on academic issues, such as the structure of the doctoral and post-doctoral programmes.

Promoting inter-disciplinarity was another priority among our research programmes last year. In 2014 the Institute consolidated the thematic organization of the Max Weber Programme, grouping Fellows according to research specialties rather than by strict academic affiliation. Departments are also encouraging a cross-discipline approach, offering more team-taught inter-departmental seminars in their course offerings. The EUI Forum, described above, was likewise launched with this objective in mind.

In 2014 the Institute made important advances in developing an integrated programme on academic skills and practices for its researchers and postdoctoral fellows. This programme, coordinated by the Academic Service, includes writing and language skills, teaching skills, research skills, and generic skills.

Within our doctoral and masters programmes, 109 PhD theses and 8 LLM theses were successfully defended in 2014. As reported by the Dean of Studies, completion rates for recent cohorts have now reached almost 85%, a vast improvement compared to cohorts from earlier decades.

With input from the Academic Services, the Max Weber Programme and the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies, the EUI reformulated its offering for post-doctoral fellowships, which was reflected in the fellowship calls published in 2014. The Robert Schuman Centre has joined the four departments as a hosting unit for the Max Weber Fellowship, which, since its outset, has been targeted to young scholars within 5 years of having completed their doctoral degree. Jean Monnet Fellowships, hosted at the RSCAS, instead are now offered to slightly more advanced scholars who are at least 5 years beyond receipt of their doctoral degree. The requirements for the Fernand Braudel Senior Fellowships remain unchanged, and are open to established academics with an international reputation. All in all, our junior and senior fellowship programmes brought nearly 100 academics from more than 30 countries to the EUI campus in 2014, for stays ranging from a few months to two years.

As reflected in the number of defended theses and the more than 1000 various publications produced by the EUI community, the Institute enjoys continued success in its core business of research and teaching. Our academic community continues to obtain significant external funding for its research activities, which in 2014 totaled €13,504,974. More specifically, the EUI hosted 10 major on-going projects funded by grants from the European Research Council, and numerous projects supported by other EC, public and private bodies. These funders include but are not limited to the Directorate Generals for Research, Climate Action, Economic and Financial Affairs, Home Affairs, Justice, Communication, and Competition; the European Training Foundation; the European Parliament and the International Organization for Migration. These externally funded projects are listed within each academic unit.

Thanks to external support, in 2014 the EUI continued to host the Swiss Chair in Federal Studies, the Stein Rokkan Chair, (Norway) the Pierre Werner Chair on European Monetary Integration, the Loyola de Palacio Chair on Energy, the Tommaso Padoa Schioppa Chair, and the Russian Federation Chair.

A number of new full-time professors arrived in 2014. In the Department of Economics Juan Dolado took up his appointment as Professor of Econometrics, coming to the EUI from the Universidad Carlos III de Madrid. Ramon Marimon, Professor of Macroeconomics, returned to the department after having directed the Max Weber Programme at the EUI since its founding in 2006. In the Department of History and Civilization, Peter Judson joined us from Swarthmore College in the US as Professor of 19th and 20th Century History. The Department of SPS had two new additions. Philipp Genschel, who comes to us from Jacobs University Bremen and the University of Bremen in Germany, was appointed joint chair in European Public Policy in SPS and at the RSCAS. Jennifer Welsh, arriving from Oxford University, took up the SPS chair in International Relations. Finally, in September the Robert Schuman Centre welcomed Richard Portes from the London Business School and CEPR as the first holder of the Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa Chair.

In 2014 EUI faculty ran nine research projects selected for funding by the EUI Research Council. In the Department of History and Civilization, Professor Luca Molà received a grant for his project European Court and State Manufactures in a Global Perspective, 1400-1800. LAW professors Loïc Azoulay and Fabrizio Cafaggi received continued funding for the Centre for Judicial Cooperation; Nehal Bhuta and Giovanni Sartor were funded for Designing Regulation for Autonomous Weapons Systems; Dennis Patterson was funded for Evaluating The Guilty Mind: Assessment of Neuroscientific Evidence in Criminal Proceedings and Ruth Rubio Marin received a grant for Gender Quotas in Europe: Towards European Parity Citizenship? In addition, Research Council awarded support to the LAW department for the project Euro-Crisis Law. Constitutional Implications for EU Member States. SPS Professor Donatella della Porta received a research grant for Processes of Disengagement from Political Violence: A Contentious Politics Approach. The ECO Department received support for its project Designing Economic Policies and Institutions after the Great Recession, and Ulrich Krotz of the RSCAS received a grant for his project Divided We Stand.

ADMINISTRATION

The various services have provided brief reports for this publication, which may be found in part 2. Complete reports on the services and administration may be found in the Secretary-General's Activity report on 2014. Here below I detail three especially significant decisions for the EUI community as a whole.

Data Protection Policy

Following the 2013 reform of the EUI's Data Protection Policy, which reinforced the Institute's data protection standards both in practise and in law, the Institute began enforcing the rules in 2014. EUI Legal Advisor Polyxeni Melidou was appointed to serve as Data Protection Officer (DPO). The Directors of Services and the Heads of Departments were appointed as the Data Controllers responsible for the fair and lawful processing of personal data within their respective units.

The DPO organised a large scale training in order to raise awareness and actively promote a culture of data protection in the Institute, and a Data Protection Registry was set up. As a result, we are encouraged to see that the use of privacy statements to inform data subjects about the processing operations and their rights has become a more regular practise, and that Data Controllers have started taking correct measures to ensure confidentiality and data security.

Public Procurement Initiative

2014 was a landmark year in terms of reforming the EUI's public procurement rules in light of best practices and in response to auditors' recommendations. A working group chaired by the Institute's Legal Advisor produced a first proposal in Spring 2014, which was subsequently reviewed by the Institute's consultative bodies and top management. The working group delivered a final proposal to the President in the beginning of autumn recommending even stronger safeguards of the fundamental principles of transparency, proportionality, equal treatment and non-discrimination.

In the reformed regulation, the existing set of rules was consolidated and more detailed and updated rules were introduced in order to raise procurement standards, broaden competition for EUI public contracts, align as much as possible with the EU legislation and practises of national and EU authorities as well as to address any gaps or deficiencies which have emerged in recent years.

The President's Decision on the Reformed Public Procurement Regulation came into force on 5 December, on the same day that the High Council adopted the Decision reforming the relevant Financial Rules.

To ensure smooth transition and effective implementation as well as harmonisation of operational documents, the Institute prepared a complete set of guidelines, including model documents and contracts, for the staff involved in designing calls for tender as well as for providers interested in making proposals to our calls for tender.

Revised Statutory Rules and Provisions

In 2014, following the EU Staff Reform, the Personnel Service headed the discussions and negotiations on the revision of EUI Staff Rules in light of the recent EU reform. A working group on the revision of the EUI staff rules was formed, and it subsequently presented a document for evaluation by the President and the Secretary General in June. This document was subsequently revised and approved by the High Council in December. The EUI reform package strikes the balance between finding new areas of economic efficiency and guaranteeing that the EUI staff can still deliver the Institute's services. The main changes introduced are in the areas of careers, retirement age, working hours, expatriation and foreign residence allowances, annual travel time and travel payment.

VISITS AND EVENTS

The steady stream of visitors, seminars, lectures, conferences, workshops and training events distinguish intellectual life at the EUI, and 2014 was again a rich year in this respect. While I highlight only a few of these visits and events here, they are listed in greater detail in a later section.

We welcomed a number of distinguished visitors and stakeholders from national governments and the European Institutions to the EUI campus, including Jan Truszczyński, European Commission's Director-General for Education, Training, Culture and Youth; H.E. Bobby McDonagh, Irish Ambassador to Italy; Marco Mancini, Head of the Department for University and Research of the Italian Ministry of Education; and Federica Mogherini, Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies inaugurated the Annual Yves Mény Lecture, in honour of its first director. The Max Weber Lecture series continues to bring internationally renowned scholars to the Institute on a monthly basis; in 2014 these included, among others, distinguished thinkers such as Dagmar Herzog, Peter Gosh, Theda Skocpol and Roger Myerson.

For the fourth year in a row, the EUI's State of the Union conference, reported on by the Communications Service in a later section, successfully brought together leading academics, policy-makers, civil society representatives, and business and opinion leaders to discuss both the future of the social and political model for Europe, and the next European elections. The 2014 Conference included leaders such as President of the European Commission José Manuel Barroso, President of the European Parliament Martin Schulz, Italian Prime Minister Matteo Renzi, and other high-level officials from many countries. Last year's edition was particularly notable as it included one of the three EU-wide live televised debates among four of the candidates for the Presidency of the European Commission: José Bové, Jean-Claude Juncker, Martin Schulz, and Guy Verhofstadt.

FINANCIAL POSITION

In real terms, the Member State contribution to the EUI budget has essentially been frozen in recent years, apart from the recapitalisation of the pension fund for administrative staff. However, at the same time funding from the EU and externally funded research programmes have increased considerably and this has been decisive in keeping the budget of the EUI in balance, and allowing the Institute to continue with and in some areas expand its activities.

The budget subvention from the EU has grown by almost 47% between 2009 and 2014, from €7.83 million in 2009 to €11.564 million in 2014. The funding prospects from the EU remain positive but while some of these funds are direct contributions from the EU towards our work, others (ERC grants, Horizon2020 funding, etc.) are grants or contracts the EUI has won through competitive tenders and there is no guarantee that they will continue at this level in the future.

Nevertheless, the overall funding for research from external sources has grown considerably in recent years, thanks to the excellence of the programmes created and the vision and commitment of the academics involved. The income from external projects, coming from the EU and other public and private sources, has increased from €7.298 million in 2009 to €13.504 million in 2014, representing an 85% increase over six years.

With this increase in the external research funding and in our budget subvention from the EU, the Member State ordinary contributions now constitute approximately 44% of the overall EUI budget.

THE GRADUATE PROGRAMME

The EUI's four-year structured graduate programme is co-ordinated by the Dean of Graduate Studies, Professor Rainer Bauböck, who has held this position since October 2012. The Dean liaises with the four academic departments, in particular with the Director of Graduate Studies of each department, for all that concerns teaching and supervision in the doctoral programme. As Dean, he is Chair of the Doctoral Programme Committee which meets regularly during the academic year to discuss aspects of the programme. At the Principal's request, he may substitute the Principal in matters related to the academic functioning of the Institute. The Dean promotes an academic environment where doctoral and post-doctoral studies complement one another, and where the researcher's overall experience and well-being may be enhanced. To this end, he works closely with the Academic Service to ensure that the tools for implementing the doctoral programme are kept in good order and respected, first and foremost the Academic Rules and Regulations, and then other related codes such as, for example, the policy on disability and specific educational needs that was adopted quite recently.

The doctoral programme concentrates not only on support for researchers producing a good thesis but also on other aspects that will be to their advantage upon leaving the EUI, such as developing teaching skills, writing academic publications, presenting papers at conferences and support for their careers.

Another way in which researchers may enrich their studies is by taking advantage of co-operation agreements that the EUI has with universities worldwide. Many of these, notably those with US and European universities (the latter under the Erasmus programme) are long-standing arrangements going back to the 1990s, but in the last few years agreements have also been set up with universities in Russia and China.

The EUI's international reputation of academic excellence attracts young scholars not only from Europe but also from further afield. In order to promote the diversification of the EUI student body the Institute finances a number of students from around the world through the EUI named-scholarship programme. Besides these, the Italian Ministry of Foreign and International Cooperation continues to award grants to students from Eastern Europe, Turkey, Central Asia and now also to researchers from North Africa (Algeria, Egypt, Morocco and Tunisia).

In 2014, 1419 candidates applied to the Institute and in September, 127 new researchers registered for the doctoral and Master's programmes. This represents an acceptance rate of about 9% compared to 9% for the previous year and to the average of 10% registered for the last decade.

Once enrolled at the EUI, these researchers benefit from a unique intellectual environment made up of over 1,000 international scholars— there are approximately 600 doctoral and Master's students, 55 faculty members, over 100 post-doctoral fellows, besides visiting and exchange students from partner universities, visiting fellows, part-time and visiting professors. More than 60 countries are represented.

109 researchers successfully defended their doctoral thesis in 2014 (35 in the Department of Law, 25 in the Department of Political and Social Sciences, 27 in the Department of History and Civilization, and 22 in the Department of Economics) compared with 106 and 109 for the previous two years.

Analyses of completion figures confirm the significant increase in researchers' success rates over the last decade, the average completion rate (PhDs awarded / researchers admitted) for cohorts 2001 to 2008 reaching almost 84%, compared with an average of just over 60% for the cohorts of the 1990s. In terms of time to completion, the median time-to-degree for cohorts 2001-2008 is 4.1 years for submission of the thesis and 4.7 years for defence.

Ultimately, the success of the Institute's doctoral programme is reflected not only by the number of doctorates being completed but also by researchers' work placement at the end of the programme. Recent figures show that 65% went on to pursue an academic career while 35% took up employment in international organisations or national agencies, and in the private sector.

Academic departments have started to implement changes to their course offer and to promote academic literacy and intellectual community across the EUI's disciplines.

In addition, Academic Service in cooperation with the Dean and Academic Departments is working on the development of an integrated Programme on Academic Skills and Practices that provides training and skills development for the EUI doctoral and postdoctoral researchers. This programme includes: writing and language skills, teaching skills, research skills, and generic skills.

PROFILE AND NEWS

The research interest of the department continues to concentrate on three broad areas: microeconomics, macroeconomics and applied economics/econometrics. Within Macroeconomics, the main research themes include: recursive contracts; incomplete markets; monetary theory and policy; macroeconomic implications of labor market institutions; models of expectation formation, political economy; international macroeconomics; fiscal policy; optimal taxation and sovereign default. Within Applied Economics and Econometrics, the main research themes include: labor economics; economics of education, macroeconomic time series models; financial econometrics; the transmission mechanism of monetary policy in the Euro area; international business cycles; high frequency data and financial volatility; forecasting; mixed frequency data and instrumental variable estimation. Finally, in Microeconomics, the main research themes are: financial intermediation; financial and social networks; economics of science and innovation; general equilibrium theory; economics of information; financial frictions and risk-sharing; firms' capital structure, political institutions, electoral rules and political selection; intellectual property and endogenous growth, models of self-control, learning in games, evolutionary game theory.

With regard to faculty, in 2014 Juan Dolado joined the department from Universidad Carlos III de Madrid in January, which has reinforced the department's strengths in the study of labour market institutions and policies with a strong focus on European countries. Ramon Marimon also returned to the department full-time, after having directed the Max Weber Programme at the EUI. Jérôme Adda left at the end of August to take up a position at the Università Bocconi in Milan, while Matthias Sutter left in December, going to the University of Cologne.

Many members of the department participated in two successful grant proposals. The first, Designing Economic Policies and Institutions after the Great Recession, a research proposal by the Economics Department, was awarded €64,500 by the EUI Research Council. Coordinators of the project are Árpád Ábrahám, Andrea Mattozzi, and Evi Pappa, and additional faculty participants are Jérôme Adda, Fabio Canova, Elena Carletti, Juan Dolado, Piero Gottardi, Peter Hansen, and Ramon Marimon. The second proposal, A Dynamic Economic and Monetary Union (ADEMU) won a Horizon 2020 grant from the European Union. The consortium is led by EUI Coordinator Ramon Marimon and includes faculty participants Árpád Ábrahám, Fabio Canova, Piero Gottardi, Peter Hansen, David Levine, Andrea Mattozzi, and Evi Pappa. This large proposal brings €575,000 of research funds to the EUI, and will start in 2015.

In 2014 the department introduced some small but influential changes into its doctoral programme. Christian Dustman and Jérôme Adda gave new courses to the 2nd and 3rd year students on 'How to write a dissertation?' and 'How to prepare for the academic job market'. These courses are part of the efforts the department has made over the last 3 to 4 years to increase the competitiveness of our graduates. These initiatives have paid off in the job market, where researchers from Economics, as well as the postdoctoral fellows associated with the department performed very well, receiving offers from leading North American and European academic and policy institutions and think tanks, including Bocconi University, Cambridge University, the LSE, NYU, Oxford University, the Université de Montréal, the University of Copenhagen, the WTO, and the IMF.

HISTORY AND CIVILIZATION

PROFILE AND NEWS

The Department of History and Civilization (HEC) stands out among research centres across Europe for its commitment to studying the history of Europe from international, comparative, transnational and trans-cultural perspectives. Its primary aim is a rigorous reflection on how to research, write and teach a cross-national history of Europe. It is committed to transcend national perspectives on history by incorporating them into distinctly European outlooks with broader methodological and thematic contexts, and to critically relate historical research to the concerns of contemporary Europeans. Its research agenda emphasizes long-term perspectives on the multiple processes of integration and disintegration that Europe has undergone in the political, economic, cultural, social, legal and scientific spheres. HEC is not the only research centre with a commitment to explore the history of Europe from global, comparative, transnational and trans-cultural perspectives. However, it is one of the best equipped to do so thanks to its Europe-wide recruitment of top quality researchers and faculty.

The Department encourages interdisciplinary cooperation with the social sciences, and has pivoted its research agenda around four main areas: the long-term development of economic, political and social structures that defined Europe through the early modern and modern period; the connections and entanglements with the imperial, colonial and global processes that shaped Europe and its internal diversity; the complex structure of intellectual and scientific transformations that made and remade Europe as a diversified cultural space; the interaction between power, ideology and society with a focus on how socio-political arrangements, modes of dominations, and regimes of power rise and decline.

After a rapid turn-over in 2013, when three new professors joined the department—Alexander Etkind from Cambridge University, Stéphane Van Damme from SciencesPo, and Regina Grafe from Northwestern—HEC has enriched and diversified its range of topics and expertise. In particular we have extended our focus to Eastern Europe and Russia and increased our ability to locate European history in a global framework. In 2014, our focus on these areas was further strengthened with the arrival of Pieter Judson from Swarthmore College.

On top of high quality PhD candidates, we receive an increasing number of applications for the post-doctoral and senior fellowships by top-ranking scholars. We are expanding and deepening the networks that link us to the world most advanced research outfits. Our Summer School on Comparative and Trans-National History has grown into a reference point for history students across Europe. The Europe in the World Forum—which fosters discussion and research on the interlinking of Europe with other areas in the world and runs a rich series of conferences and lectures—is now well established. It runs collaborative ventures with the Global Governance Programme, the Warwick Global History and Culture Centre, and the history departments at Princeton University, the Central European University and Sciences Po (Paris). The Department inaugurated exchange agreements with the London School of Economics, the European University at St. Petersburg, Columbia University, and Birkbeck College.

The Department hosts the ERC project Bodies across Borders (BABE) coordinated by Prof. Luisa Passerini who became part-time professor. In 2014 HEC professors submitted three new large research project applications to the European Research Council.

Among a variety of workshops that HEC hosted in 2014, three major international conferences, in particular, stand out as key intellectual contributions to scholarly dialogue and cutting-edge research: The Long Global Crisis c.1912-c.1922, 2-3 June 2014; Crossings and Circulations in the Atlantic and Indian Oceans and the Mediterranean since 1450, 5-6 December 2014; 200 Years of Dialogue between Knowledge and Power in Europe, 11-12 December 2014.

NEW FACULTY

Pieter M. Judson joined the HEC faculty in January 2014 as Professor of 19th and 20th Century History. He arrived from Swarthmore College (USA), where he was the Isaac Clothier Professor of History and International Relations.

He obtained his PhD from Columbia University in 1987. He has been a visiting faculty member at NYU, the University of Pennsylvania, and Slezská Universita v Opavě.

He is the editor of the Austrian History Yearbook, serves on several editorial boards of journals, on the advisory board of the Austrian Academy of Sciences, and as referee for the National Science Foundations of Austria and the Czech Republic.

Professor Judson's current research areas include the History of Central and Eastern Europe in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, in particular the Habsburg Monarchy; Nineteenth- and twentieth-century Germany; Comparative empire; The First World War; European fascism; nationalism, ethnic cleansing, and European borderlands; and the history of sexuality. His last monograph won the Austrian State's Vogelsang Prize for the best book in the Social Sciences. He has several active book projects in the works, including a monograph with Harvard University Press, a co-authored monograph with Oxford University Press, and a co-edited volume with Cambridge University Press.

With a good completion rate, over all, in 2014 the department awarded 35 doctorates and 8 LLMs. The Department is committed to maintaining and developing its links with the legal profession, and to encouraging dialogue between the judiciary, practitioners and the academic legal world. Our graduates secure positions in academia, the European institutions, international organisations, and in private practice.

The legal issues arising from the development of European institutions, the European Union's constitutional order and the development of European law feature prominently in the department's research projects and in doctoral and LLM researchers' thesis topics. Europe is not only represented through a distinct body of law (EU law); legal issues in fields such as labour law, economic and consumer law, private law and administrative law reflect the mutual interdependence as well as the diversity of national legal systems and the emergence of transnational structures of governance. International law is also a strong element in the Department's programme with a long-standing experience in human-rights protection, the study of competition law and international trade. A dominant research theme is thus the interaction between national legal systems, European law and international law. The department's research also focuses on global governance and the impact of globalisation on legal systems; the role of the EU in international and transnational governance, including environment, social policy, international trade and investment; transnational private regulation; European regulatory private law; the protection of fundamental rights and the development of constitutional values in the law of the EU; the impact of new modes of governance on EU law; the impact of new technologies, biotechnology and neuroscience; comparative constitutional law; transitional justice; and developments in international criminal law, human rights and counter-terrorism.

Members of the Law Department are involved in two major research projects in 2013: Euro Crisis Law and National Constitutions, and ALIAS II.

The first project, funded by the EU's Research Council for the period 2013 – 2015, is directed by Professors Azoulai, Cremona, De Witte, Kilpatrick, Monti, and Micklitz. It is a study of the impact of Euro Crisis Law (by which we mean the legal instruments adopted at European or international level in reaction to the Eurozone crisis) on the national legal and constitutional structures of the 28 Member States of the European Union. The study, the first comprehensive project of its kind, aims to provide an open-access research tool, based on a set of reports for each Member State, that constitutes an excellent basis for further, especially comparative, studies of the legal status and implementation of Euro Crisis Law at national level, the interactions between national legal systems and Euro Crisis law and the constitutional challenges that have been faced. It further aims to investigate the impact of Euro Crisis Law on the constitutional balance of powers at national level; highlight the effects of Euro Crisis Law on the protection of fundamental and social rights at national level; and provide an overview of Euro Crisis Law literature and a collection of relevant official documents in the Member States.

The website containing national reports and news items is live at www.eurocrisis.eu.eu.

European Project ALIAS II—(Addressing Liability Impact of Automated Systems), is coordinated by the EUI and funded by Eurocontrol (EU organisation for the safety of ATM).

The project, which is directed by Professor Giovanni Sartor, addresses liability and automation in ATM, and more generally in complex socio-technical systems. It analyses present and future technological developments and their impacts on ATM, assesses current responsibility regimes, and proposes future developments.

The expected outputs include the following: (a) a methodological tool, 'The Legal Case', that will support the introduction of automation in ATM; and (b) a 'Network of Legal Research in ATM', a multidisciplinary community fostering discussion and collaboration across disciplinary lines.

The Academy of European Law was established in 1990 to promote teaching and scholarship in the fields of human rights law, European Union law, and international law. Its mission, closely aligned with that of the EUI as a whole, to foster learning in fields of particular interest for the development of Europe, is fulfilled in three central ways: the Academy's month-long summer school programme, a publications programme, and a number of projects.

In the 25 years since their inception, the Academy summer courses have gained a prestigious reputation and are now widely recognized as the leading European summer programme in their fields. Seventy or so participants from all over Europe and beyond spend two weeks engaged in intensive lectures and workshops with distinguished speakers selected from academia and practice (see below for a list of lectures). In this way, the courses enhance both the visibility and reputation of the EUI. A number of course participants eventually return to the EUI as LLM or PhD researchers.

An important component of the Academy's publication programme is the Collected Courses of the Academy of European Law series. These volumes, produced after each summer course, are published by Oxford University Press. Three volumes of the Collected Courses series were published in 2014:

- Ruth Rubio-Marín (ed.), Human Rights and Immigration
- Loïc Azoulay and Karin de Vries (eds), EU Migration Law: Legal Complexities and political Rationales
- Hans-W. Micklitz (ed.), Constitutionalization of European Private Law

This year the Academy Directors initiated an innovative practice of inviting the course lecturers to return to the EUI for a post-course workshop with the authors. This workshop, open to EUI researchers, enabled authors to discuss, debate and coordinate the development of their Collected Courses chapters.

The European Journal of International Law (also published by Oxford University Press) has its Editorial Office at the Academy, with Anny Bremner, Coordinator of the Academy, acting as the Managing Editor. Under the leadership of the Journal's Editor-in-Chief, Professor Joseph Weiler, EUI President, a number of EJIL projects were launched during 2014, including the EJIL: Live! podcast series and a Retrospective to celebrate 25 years of the journal.

The European Society of International Law (ESIL), with its Secretariat based at the Academy, continues to grow both in size and reputation. In only a few short years it has become a must-join association for international lawyers, thereby bringing the EUI to the attention of a large number of international law academics, practitioners and students. In 2014, the society had 950 members and a new lifetime membership option was also introduced. Academy Director, Professor Nehal Bhuta, is a member of the Board of the society, and Joyce Davies acts as Administrative Director assisting the Board with all aspects of the society's activities. The Secretariat also assists in the organisation of the society's events, which further enhances the EUI's reputation both in academic circles and among international lawyers worldwide. The ESIL 10th Anniversary Conference was hosted by the University of Vienna on 4 - 6 September 2014 and was attended by more than 400 participants. The conference theme was 'International Law And .... Boundaries of International Law and Bridges to Other Fields and Disciplines'. It featured plenary sessions, fora with invited speakers, and a number of agorae with speakers selected on the basis of calls for papers. For the first time, poster sessions were also arranged.

The Autonomous Weapons Systems: Law, Ethics, Policy project is coordinated by Academy Director, Professor Nehal Bhuta, and co-financed by the Fritz Thyssen Foundation. Project partners are Professor Susanne Beck (University of Hannover), Professor Claus Kress (University of Cologne) and Professor Robin Geiss (University of Glasgow). Whilst fully autonomous weapons systems (AWS) do not yet exist, a range of existing and emerging military technologies are increasingly alienating the human being from the lethal decision-making process. The project's main objective is to address the profound and complex challenges presented by AWS. The Autonomous Weapons Systems project is structured around the questions and sub-questions embedded within 4 key themes: (i) the meaning of autonomy in robotics and the frontiers of technological development that will impact on weapons technology; (ii) the legal and philosophical significance of human judgment in lethal decisions; (iii) can autonomous weapons systems comply with international humanitarian law?; (iv) legal responsibility for autonomous weapons systems, collective and individual. A conference was held at the EUI in April, bringing together a group of experts to inaugurate this important research agenda. The project will lead to a publication, currently under review with Cambridge University Press.

The Academy is a project partner in an FP7 Project, Transatlantic Relations and the Future of Global Governance (Transworld), launched in April 2012. The Academy team, led by Francesco Francioni with the support of Christine Bakker, is responsible for the project's research on transatlantic relations in the field of environmental governance and climate change. The main results of this research, carried out by experts from the EUI, Chatham House, Charles University Prague, German Marshall Fund, MIT and the Universities of Siena and Edinburgh, were published in a book, The EU, the US and Global Climate Governance, and edited by C. Bakker and F. Francioni, was published by Ashgate Publishing this year.

Finally, the Academy provided financial contributions for EUI events on topics closely related to the Academy's areas of interest, including a conference on 'Process and Constitution: The Heritage of Mauro Cappelletti', organized by members of the Law Department.

The Academy Directors at present are Loïc Azoulay, Nehal Bhuta and Marise Cremona.

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Department of Political and Social Sciences (SPS) is one of the leading centres for the comparative study of European societies, politics and political economies as well as of European integration and international relations. With currently thirteen full-time faculty, of which four have received an ERC advanced grant, and running several major comparative projects, the SPS department is also among the most successful ones in Europe in mobilizing resources for research in the social sciences. In the broad-ranging research programme of the Department there is a common emphasis on political and social change within Europe at all levels, the national, the sub-national and the transnational. The Department hosts a research centre, the Center for Comparative Life Course Research (CLIC). The Department is also strongly connected to the activities of the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies, and has helped to establish and run the Europe-wide research projects and platforms like NEWGOV, EUDO, COSMOS and PIREDEU. Our faculty and staff contribute to the EU's mission through our dedication to provide doctoral teaching and supervision to our researchers at the highest international level. Furthermore, we are committed to advance high quality fundamental research on Europe that is relevant to the scientific community and beyond, including policy makers, the media, civil society and the wider public. Two-thirds of our graduates secure academic positions in leading universities around the world. Numerous alumni also hold positions in international organisations in general, and in the European institutions more in particular.

Our faculty's research interests range across the following themes:

The Transformation of Government and Democracy

This includes new modes of governance and institutional change at State and European levels' European integration, transitions in government and markets and democratization in Western and East-Central Europe, urban and regional government, federalism, and the comparative study of political institutions, including executives and legislatures.

Social Change in Europe and its Implications for Society, Politics & Public Policy

Critical challenges include demographic change and societal aging, linked to the transformation of the family and life courses, social stratification, inequality and unemployment, and migration, its causes, patterns and implications, which have become a key issue for Europe's future and impact on a number of other policy fields.

The Comparative Study of Public Policy

This is examined at the European, national and sub-national and regional levels and covers social policy and welfare states, education policy, urban and regional policies, immigration policy, and defence and security.

Political and Social Structures and Behaviour

The Department has a particular interest in research on political conflict in Europe, voting and elections, parties and party systems. Its interest also focuses on social movements and the study of new modes of social and political participation, as well as on electronic democracy and the use of the internet as a form of political communication.

International Relations and Security

It includes theoretical issues in the study of international order, ethics of international relations, internal and external security, and the emergence of Europe as an international actor.

Social and Political Theory

This theme runs through many of the Department's research interests. There is an emphasis on applied theory. Of particular importance are theories of citizenship and political boundaries, theories of action and practical rationality, signalling theory and applications, democratic theory and practice, violence and nationalism. The Department also has an interest in theories of new institutionalism and institutional change.

ROBERT SCHUMAN CENTRE FOR ADVANCED STUDIES

PROFILE AND NEWS

The Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies (RSCAS) is a vibrant research centre at the heart of the European University Institute. Its mission is to conduct high quality research on the dynamics of European integration broadly defined and Europe's global role. The objective is to contribute to understanding patterns of continuity, change and transformation within the Union, its member states, the neighbourhood and at the global level. In so doing, it seeks to analyse and evaluate the characteristics of the economic, political, legal and social order/disorder that is being fostered by European integration and explore the intersection between Europe and the wider world. The Robert Schuman Centre undertakes large-scale research programmes and projects by successfully bidding for competitive research funds such as the European Research Council grants and establishing research consortia with Europe's leading universities and research centres.

The Robert Schuman Centre has identified three major themes that guide its research:

- Integration, Governance and Democracy;
- Regulating Markets and Governing Money; and
- 21st Century World Politics and Europe.

Through its research and policy outreach, the Robert Schuman Centre fosters links between the EUI and public institutions at European and member state levels. It offers a platform within the EUI for multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary applied and basic research. It offers fellowships to post-doctoral, early career and senior scholars and through its high level policy dialogues and executive training, it acts as a bridge between academia and the world of practice.

The Centre disseminates and reports the results of its basic and policy related research to a wide audience through the organisation of conferences, workshops and other events; academic publications as well as research reports, working papers and policy papers; the Centre's corporate web site as well as numerous project web sites. Through these web sites, the Centre and its projects also offer many research tools as 'public goods'.

The Centre's academic faculty includes joint chair holders who are also professors in the teaching departments of the EUI; programme directors who are Schuman Professors; part-time professors; research fellows and academic assistants working in the Centre's projects and programmes; senior fellows; and visiting scholars. In addition to its own faculty, the Centre hosts a large post-doctoral fellowship programme including Jean Monnet and Marie Curie fellows, EU fellows, other publicly and privately funded fellows, and academic and non-academic visitors. In February 2014, the Centre was home to approximately 200 people.

The Robert Schuman Centre houses six large programmes notably the Florence School of Regulation, the Migration Policy Centre, the Global Governance Programme, the European Union Democracy Observatory, the Centre for Media Pluralism and Media Freedom, and the Centre for Social Movement Studies. Other important current research nodes include the Pierre Werner Chair Programme on European monetary union, the Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa Chair, and the Loyola de Palacio Chair.

The RSCAS currently hosts four ERC advanced grant projects and one ERC starting grant project.

NEWLY APPOINTED ACADEMIC STAFF

Philipp Genschel arrived at the RSCAS in September 2014 as the new Chair in European Public Policy (Joint Chair with the SPS department). He is on leave from Jacobs University Bremen and the University of Bremen in Germany. Before joining the EUI, he was the deputy director of the Collaborative Research Center on 'Transformation of the State' in Bremen and a research fellow of the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies in Cologne. He has taught at the University of Chicago, the Technische Universität München and Harvard University. His current research focuses on three main topics: the international political economy of taxation (tax competition, tax coordination, and the transformation of tax states around the world), the European integration of core state powers (fiscal policy, public administration, defence and police) and the logic of indirect governance in domestic and international politics (delegation, orchestration, co-optation and trusteeships).

Richard Portes is the first holder of the Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa Chair since September 2014, and Professor of Economics at London Business School, Founder and President of the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), and Co-Chairman of the Board of Economic Policy. He is an elected Fellow of the Econometric Society and of the British Academy. He is a member of the Advisory Scientific Committee to the European Systemic Risk Board, of the Steering Committee of the Euro50 Group, and of the Bellagio Group on the International Economy. His current research interests include international macroeconomics, international finance, European bond markets and European integration. He holds three honorary doctorates.

Xavier Labandiera was appointed as part time professor from 1 September 2014 to direct and further develop the Climate Policy Research Unit. He is also professor of Economics at the University of Vigo. His research lies at the boundaries between Public, Energy and Environmental Economics and his work has been published in leading academic journals of the field. He has led many research projects in Spain and abroad and has been a lead author of the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change for the elaboration of its Fifth Assessment Report. Labandiera is also director of Economics for Energy, a private research centre specialising in the economic analysis of energy issues and aimed to create and disseminate rigorous, neutral and useful knowledge in the field. He is also coordinator of Ergon, a research platform aimed to explore in depth the economic aspects of energy efficiency.

RSCAS RESEARCH PROJECTS

New projects launched in 2014

Addressing Demand in Anti-Trafficking Efforts and Policies - DemandAT Trafficking in human beings covers a range of forms of forced labour and exploitation of women, men and children. European countries are increasingly exploring ways of influencing demand for the services or products of those trafficked within their own economies and societies – for example, through criminalising clients, better control of recruitment agencies, or fair trade campaigns. DemandAT examines the history, economics and politics of anti-trafficking measures, and explores how effective they have been in practice. By delivering theoretical and empirical background knowledge the project aims at feeding the EU and national policy-making to ultimately eliminate or at least reduce suffering from the worst forms of exploitation. The 3.5 year project is funded by the 7th Framework Programme and coordinated by the International Centre for Migration Policy Development. The team at the EUI focusses on the sector of domestic work. On the basis of research in seven different countries, the research will examine what kind of work is involved in trafficking in human beings in the domestic work sector, what are the motivations and the profits behind it and the circumstances that allow it to take place.

Assessment of Electricity Market Models For Europe The Florence School of Regulation has been appointed by the Institute for Prospective Technological Studies (IPTS) from the Directorate General Joint Research Centre (DG JRC), European Commission, for the assessment of electricity market models for Europe able to represent the current market conditions and other aspects of the medium-term and long-term development of the European electricity market. The project is focusing on the challenges that current models face for the comprehensive representation of all these aspects due to the interdependencies between simulation goals and exogenous information. The result is that the goal of developing 'one size fits all' type of model might be unrealistic and that a coordinated use of different models is necessary.

Developing Evidence-based Management and Operations in India-EU Migration and Partnership DEMO: India-EU MaP The DEMO project will institutionalize the previous as well as ongoing initiatives in fostering evidence based research work for policy making on migration between India and the EU. The overall objective of the DEMO is to help produce cutting edge evidence-based research, policy analysis and evaluation and to strengthen the governance structures for policy-making and migration management. The DEMO project will seek to institutionalize the process of developing capacity for sustained evidence based work and the governance of migration in a manner that can help dispel myths, and offer insights on how India and EU might partner to make migration a mutually beneficial process and catalyze much needed economic growth. The DEMO project is co-funded by the European Union (EU Delegation to India).

DIRECTIONS is a research initiative which aims at identifying and analysing directions of change in North Africa. The research focus of DIRECTIONS is specifically on social dynamics rather than on the twists and turns so characteristic of political crises and transitional periods. Only by looking at the deeper changes occurring within these societies can an informed understanding of the overall scope and direction of the transformational process underway in post-revolutionary Egypt, Libya and Tunisia develop. Priority attention is therefore given to spatial and temporal developments, namely: on the ground, at the local level, and with a mid- to long-term perspective. Multidisciplinarity, as well as collaborative work with researchers, professionals and actors in the countries studied, is also key to identifying and deepening our understanding of the main areas and directions of change in the region.

The ETEM V Project (External Thematic Expertise on Migration) is implemented by the Migration Policy Centre in the framework of a consortium led by the International Organization for Migration (IOM). The main purpose of the project is to support the work of DG DEVCO's Unit B3 in enhancing EU staff's operational capacities, with the aim to ensure that EC cooperation on migration is as effective as possible, and communicating with key internal stakeholders in DEVCO, the European External Action Service (EEAS), other interested DGs and EU Delegations on migration issues. ETEM V is funded by the European Union (DG DEVCO).

European Emigration Governance: Emigration and Diaspora Policies and Discourses in the Post-Crisis Era is a European Outgoing Fellowship project funded by the Marie Curie Fellowship programme (Framework 7) of DG Research. During the outgoing phase the Marie Curie Fellow Agnieszka Weinara will be hosted by Carlton University, Ottawa.

Media Pluralism Monitor (MPM) 2015 The European Commission (DG CONNECT) awarded a grant to the Centre for Media Pluralism and Media Freedom to conduct the implementation in 19 EU member states of the Media Pluralism Monitor (MPM) developed by the CMPF in 2014 (MPM2014). In September 2013, the European Commission assigned to the CMPF the task of updating, simplifying and conducting a pilot-test implementation of the MPM developed in 2009 by a consortium led by the University of Leuven. The CMPF, after reducing the scope of application of the MPM to news and current affairs, pilot tested the monitor in a sample of nine EU countries: Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, Estonia, France, Greece, Hungary, Italy and the UK. This action was followed with the scope of enhancing the practical applicability of the MPM as a research instrument that would potentially be usable for future implementation, in a neutral and standard way, across all of the EU Member States, and to assess the risk to media pluralism in the selected countries. In 2015, the CMPF will complete the monitoring of the risks for media pluralism in all EU countries.

Redial - RReturn DIALogue REDIAL is carried out in partnership with the Odysseus network. the main objective of the project will be twofold: first, it will establish a functioning European network of judges dealing with return cases and corresponding legal academics from the Member States with a view to exchange knowledge and experience regarding the proper implementation of the EU Return Directive; second, it will build a comprehensive knowledge platform comprising of national and CJEU landmark judgments, their analysis and the pertinent general academic writings. REDIAL is co-funded by the European Union (DG Migration and Home Affairs via the European Refugee Fund – ERF).

Seminar for National Judges: the place of the national judiciary in the single market for telecoms - The Seminar for National Judges organised by the Florence School of Regulation, Communications and Media Area, took place in Brussels on the 20th November 2014. The event was part of a series of Seminars that the European Commission sponsors every year to provide a forum for the judges, the regulators, the European institutions and the Academia to exchange experience on various aspects of telecoms regulation. The topics debated during the 2014 edition were linked to the recent policy and case-law developments in the field of electronic communications and to the role of BEREC in ensuring a single market for telecoms. Furthermore, judges had the opportunity to share national experiences on specific issues concerning the application of European and national electronic communications law.

Strengthening Journalism in Europe: Tools, Networking, Training - The European Commission (DG CONNECT) awarded a grant to the Centre for Media Pluralism and Media Freedom in co-operation with the Center for Media, Data and Society (CMDS) at the Central European University (Budapest) to run the project 'Strengthening Journalism in Europe: Tools, Networking, Training' as part of the call for proposals ECPMF (European Centre for Press and Media Freedom). Due to the increasing need to safeguard freedom of expression and freedom of information, as guaranteed by the EU Charter for Fundamental Rights and according to the standards of the Council of Europe and OSCE, this project enhanced practical support mechanisms for journalists in Europe in particular with regard to threats, violations of editorial liberty and freedom of speech. The CMPF organised training for journalists, produced maps monitoring, reporting and comparing laws affecting the profession of journalist, the differences in working conditions and the status of journalists across EU Member States. Moreover the CMPF awarded three European journalists for projects on online investigative journalism, promoted the discussion on very up-to-date issues concerning freedom of the press (i.e. safety of journalists) amongst institutions and relevant stakeholders.

Study on the European Parliament as a driving force of European constitutionalisation - This study has been commissioned by the European Parliament's directorate on citizens' rights and constitutional affairs. The study will explore the European Parliament's (EP) institutional role in crucial aspects of the process of parliamentarisation of the EU. It will elaborate through which institutional channels and which strategies the EP has wielded influence, under which conditions in the political, social and economic environment these strategies were successfully employed, which processes they triggered and what their impact was in shaping the political architecture of the EU over time. The study will in particular focus on the role of the EP in legislation, from consultation to codecision; in the budgetary process; in the investiture of the Commission; in delegated legislation/comitology; in economic governance; and finally in external relations. The study will contribute to the deliberations of the Constitutional Affairs Committee of the European Parliament.

The protection of democracy in integration organisations in Europe and Latin America and the Caribbean - The respect for democracy and rule of law is among the conditions that integration organisations in Europe (EU) and Latin America and the Caribbean (MERCOSUR, UNASUR, SICA and CARICOM) require for the accession of new members. Increasingly, these organisations require also their current members to respect democracy. Organisations enforce this requirement via the suspension of membership or suspension of membership rights. In recent years, these provisions have been applied in several cases, but there has also been considerable debate about the need to make them more robust. This one year GGP project, funded by the EU-LAC Foundation assesses comparatively the performance of integration organisations in implementing their democratic conditionality clauses: What are the existing institutional designs and what effects each can have? The answer to these questions will provide solid improvement proposals and alternatives in the form in which this democratic oversight function is exercised in both European and Latin America and the Caribbean organisations. The methodology combines legal and political science analysis of the cases in which these provisions have been applied and those in which, despite having been invoked, they have not been implemented.

Towards a pluralistic society in Italian cities is a project that aims at contributing to the construction of a new phase in the institutional practice towards Islam and Muslims in Italy. To achieve this general objective, first was made a research on the inclusion of Islam and Muslims in the Italian cities, with the aim of identifying a set of recommendations and good practices for a local policy towards Muslims. Secondly, the project foresees a series of workshops on Islamic place of worship. Conceived as a practical training of local administrators and Muslims, the workshops have to be based on the continuous passage from theory to practice and from practice to theory. Thirdly, two cities were selected and have been accompanied in the building of a local public process dealing with the question of mosque and, more generally, of inclusion of Muslims.

The final step of this project will be the elaboration of a platform for the management of the Islamic presence in the urban space and, more generally, on the pluralization of Italian society. This will be brought to the general public through the publication of a book in Italian and English, which aims at contributing to the European debate on the inclusion of religious minorities in the urban context.

Towards 2030 - Dialogue on a RES policy framework for 2030. The EC's recent Green Paper (COM (2013) 169 final) sets forth potential elements of a new energy policy framework by 2030 and opens up the related policy debate. The aim of this project is to facilitate and guide the RES policy dialogue for the period towards 2030. The project is working towards an intense stakeholder dialogue that establishes a European vision of a joint future RES policy framework.

TRA_MED patterns of pastoral migrations in the Mediterranean region The TRA_MED research project aims at contributing to the debate about migrants' contributions to farming and rural development in Europe, through the specific case study of evolving pastoral systems in the Mediterranean, with a view to contribute to the development of appropriate policies at local as well as at European level. The project is funded by the European Commission via the FP7 programme (Marie Curie).

MAX WEBER PROGRAMME FOR POSTDOCTORAL STUDIES

The Max Weber Programme (MWP) for post-doctoral studies is the largest of its kind in Europe, bringing together 50-60 Fellows from across the world working in the social and historical sciences. It offers Fellows not only the resources to research and publish but also helps them develop the skills needed to become full members of the global academic community through multidisciplinary thematic research groups and disciplinary academic practice groups. 80% of fellows come for a single intensive year, with the remaining 20% benefitting from a second year. It is highly competitive, admitting around 3% of applicants; diverse and global, recruiting from around the world and in roughly equal numbers of men and women; and highly successful, with approximately 99% of Fellows securing a temporary or permanent position before leaving the programme.

Located in the Badia Fiesolana, the MWP offers excellent research facilities, including a shared office space. Fellows are organized into thematic research groups and provided with mentors, and present and comment on each other's work. They have the chance to participate in Master Classes with distinguished Max Weber guest lecturers, and to organize multidisciplinary workshops and mini conferences on topics related to their research. In addition, they can benefit from a range of taught courses and dedicated language services designed to improve their communication skills in writing and presenting their research in English, applying for range of suitable grants and teaching native and non-native English speakers. Through the Academic Careers Observatory (ACO), the MWP assists Fellows on the job market, helping them identify suitable positions to apply for and all aspects of the application process, from preparing their CV to their job talk and interview techniques. The ACO also provides information on the structure of academic careers across the whole of the EU and in many other parts of the world, notably North America. Finally, Fellows can take advantage of a range of teacher-training opportunities within the EUI, at the University of Florence and various American universities with programmes in Florence, and by undertaking tailor-made teaching practices at the LSE, the Humboldt University and Pompeu Fabre. All these elements make the Max Weber Fellowship a unique and unforgettable intellectual experience, that both prepares the Fellows for an outstanding academic career, and creates a global network of young academics that is shaping how academia functions worldwide.

Three features stand out with regard to the programme. First and foremost, the MWP has pioneered the idea of a taught post-doctoral programme in the social and historical sciences. Such programmes have long been the norm in natural sciences but the MWP stands alone in developing a distinct model of post-doctoral education for the social sciences and humanities that combines support for research in the widest sense with teaching, academic communication and other career development skills – features that make Max Weber Fellows highly attractive to future employers.

Second, the MWP has been a positive force within the EUI as a whole. Max Weber Fellows, who cannot be more than 5 years out of their PhD, have been a motor for fostering research collaboration across departments and between established and early career researchers within the EUI. Although all Fellows are attached to a department and have a mentor within them, the Programme itself is multidisciplinary. They also provide a bridge between the Professors and the PhD researchers. The programme's events, such as the distinguished series of Max Weber Lectures and the multidisciplinary thematic groups and workshops, raise the profile and research output of the EUI as a whole, while bringing the EUI academic community together.

Third, the MWP has helped internationalise the EUI through its global reach, and to continually rejuvenate and revitalize it through bringing a significant new group of highly talented and innovative young researchers to Florence on an annual basis. Over the past nine years, 351 Fellows have taken part in the MWP. As Figure 1 on the next page shows, the applicant pool has increasingly been global in scope. Though in 2014 the majority of applications still came from Europe (675 applications), there were significant numbers from North America (208), Asia (173), South and Central America (48), Africa (26) and Oceania (15).

At the same time, as Figure 2 shows, the overall number of applicants has rapidly grown and more than doubled over the Programmes' first five years of existence. Though in 2014 the number of applications fell slightly, going from 1455 applications in 2013 to 1277, this was largely due to a tightening of the eligibility criteria for both the MWF and the JMF. The number of applications in 2013 was the highest since the establishment of the programme, with 2014 the second highest.

2014 was the first time that applicants could opt to work in a thematic research group, the themes of which were intended to highlight the kind of multidisciplinary research undertaken at the EUI. Figure 3 shows that most chose to associate their application with a given group but that this did not inhibit applicants whose work fell outside a group from applying. This innovation within the MWP will be evaluated over the coming year.

HISTORICAL ARCHIVES OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

The objectives of the Historical Archives of the European Union are to preserve and allow public access to the official historical records of the European Union Institutions. The Archives processes and prepares inventories on the annual file transfers by the Archives services of the various EU Institutions in Brussels and Luxembourg. The Archives publishes these inventories in its online database and provides related information and news to the public via the HAEU web site. The Archives also collects private papers of individuals and archives of non-EU organisations and associations that have contributed to European integration and cooperation. Among these 160 private fonds deposited at the HAEU appear the finest collection of federalist archives in Europe and a unique collection of oral history. Another objective of the Archives is to raise the visibility and public recognition of historical archives of the EU Institutions through the hosting and organisation of academic conferences and workshops and of cultural events at Villa Salviati.

ORGANISATIONAL CHART

In 2014, the total number of staff of the Historical Archives remained unchanged (16 agents and two contract agents) with 13 permanent agents, three temporary agents and two contract agents for DORIE. One permanent agent and one contract agent worked part-time.

IMPLEMENTATION OF 2014 OBJECTIVES

Consolidate the new seat at Villa Salviati

During the second year at the new seat at Villa Salviati, the preservation conditions, levels of security for the archival holdings and provision of office space for Archives staff were further improved. The maintenance and running costs of the site have been consolidated and now provide a good basis for the financial planning.

To prepare for growing space requirements for archival storage, roller shelves have been installed in two storage rooms of the Archives. Also, the control measures for access to the storage area have been enhanced and access limited to archival staff only.

Prioritise ICT-solutions and digitisation of holdings

The main priority in 2014 was the launch of the new archival database in January of the year. This new database was developed with a modern search and retrieval system based on the open search technology SOLR which allows for ranking by relevance and faceting of research. The database is fully based on the Encoded Archival Description framework and hosts the ISAD(G) and ISAAR(CPF) compliant digital inventories of the archival holdings. The oral history database has also been integrated into the new archival database. It received a new structure and look so that all interviews are now searchable together with the archival holdings.

Also, as part of the project ‘The European Commission 1973-1986: History and Memories of an Institution, volume 2’, 218 new interviews have been integrated in the oral history database. For the first time, also the audio recordings with permission for public consultation have been made available in the online database.

A main achievement in 2014 was the inclusion of the EU Institutions’ historical archives in the Archives Portal Europe. This inclusion was projected in close collaboration with the Inter-Institutional Archives Group and at all steps the partners commented on the progress.

In 2014, the Archives continued with the digitisation of selected holdings. During the year 735 files were digitised. The digitization concentrated on the following holdings: European Court of Justice (232 files); Pierre Uri (291 files); Piero Malvestiti (part two; 212 files).

The pilot of the new ALFRESCO electronic records management platform for the European University Institute has been successfully finished in 2014 and a conclusive training has been organised in December 2014 for all staff in view of the full implementation and deployment of the system to the whole Institute as of 1 January 2015.

Reception and processing of EU Institutional archives

In 2014 the HAEU received 4,252 files from EU Institutions. The files received correspond to 155 linear meters of historical records. From the Commission, 350 files of the BAC fonds (11 linear meters) were received on 14 April 2014 and 902 files pertaining to the BAC and CEAB fonds (19 linear meters) were received on 17 December 2014. The Economic and Social Committee transferred 562 files (11.5 linear meters) on 14 April 2014.

On 10 July 2014, the European Court of Justice signed a deposit agreement with the European University Institute and subsequently transferred its first series of files concerning the judicial historical archives of the Court. 2,438 files (109 linear meters) were transferred to the HAEU on 22 October 2014.

Acquisition and processing of private deposits

In 2014, private archives were collected and received in 193 packing boxes for processing and inclusion in the Archives holdings from the following individuals: Peter Lowe, Peter Sutherland, Georges Rencki, Mauro Cappelletti and Michel Waelbroeck. The following Non-EU Organisations transferred archival materials to the Archives: Alliance of Liberals and Democrats in the European Parliament (ALDE Group) and the European Association of Financial and Banking History.

Promote access and user services

In the reading room, seven archivists in turn provide reference services to researchers. On site photocopying, scanning and computer support (Wi-Fi) are available at the new site. In 2014, 640 research sessions in the reading room were counted. The number of files consulted was 4,063. 91 new researchers registered in the reading room.

The reference library on the history of European integration in 2014 comprised 19,400 titles. The acquisition continued to be modest with 350 volumes, monographs and periodicals. During the year 1,080 monographs and periodicals were consulted in the reading room.

The website of the Archives received a total of 296,642 visits. The great majority of visitors to the Archives website consulted the archival descriptions and oral history resources in the online archival database with 260,994 visits. Digitised documents and inventories in PDF format were downloaded 4,431 times and the oral history collections received 4,793 visitors.

Visits and representation

The Archives' seat at Villa Salviati continues to attract numerous individual and group visits. The highlight in 2014 was the visit of José Manuel Barroso, President of the European Commission, at the occasion of the pre-launch of The European Commission: History and Memories of an Institution, volume 2 at Villa Salviati on 8 May 2014, followed by the Open Day of the HAEU and Villa Salviati on 10 May with more than 600 visitors. On that occasion, an exhibition on the 'Presidents of the Italian Republic and Europe' was shown in the Grotto of Villa Salviati, provided by the University of Tuscia with input from the Historical Archives of the European Union.

As regards academic cooperation, the major event co-organised by the Archives jointly with the Alcide De Gasperi Foundation in Rome was the international conference on 'Alcide De Gasperi: The Western Preference and the Construction of Europe' at the Chamber of Deputies in Rome on 14 November.

The educational programme of the Archives 'Under a Good Star' for primary and 'Florentines – Citizens of Europe' for secondary schools in Florence, which had been launched in November 2013, saw 20 school classes with about 200 pupils visiting Villa Salviati for pedagogic workshops in 2014.

On 12 December, the Archives hosted for the second time the European Citizen's Prize ceremony for Italy organised by the representation of the European Parliament in Rome, and contributed to an exhibition at the National Library of Florence 'L'Europa dei popoli e il mondo: le pietre del dialogo' on the former mayor of Florence Giorgio La Pira who played a major role in the pre-history of the European University Institute. The exhibition was opened on 5 November.

THE EUI LIBRARY—EUROPE'S SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH LIBRARY

The mission of the EUI Library is to support the research, teaching and training activities of the EUI. The Library aims to provide the best possible collections, services and information tools in the social sciences and humanities, with a particular emphasis on Europe. Account is taken of the academic profile of the EUI, the ever-growing and diverse community as well as of the innovative research and teaching needs. The globalised dimension of research, the linguistic diversity, and the interdisciplinary and comparative aspects of research are important elements in fulfilling this mission.

Research libraries are in a phase of transition, marked by a rather complex shift from a traditional model based on the centralisation of information resources towards a more widely distributed user oriented model. This shift involves numerous changes that deeply affect overall library management and the role of research libraries. It requires libraries to rethink workflows, staff competences and skills, and to take into account user behaviour and expectations.

Like most academic libraries, the EUI's provides two parallel infrastructures, the traditional and the digital, both of which are essential for research purposes. In 2014, the Library continued a reorganization of spaces and print collections. Thanks to the availability of off-site storage, parts of lesser-used collections have been moved, improving collection access and user facilities— which is a very significant factor at an international institution where the Library is also a place of social and interdisciplinary exchange. Assuring proper collection development is a core business of the Library. The major shift from print to electronic resources has continued to be both a challenging and unpredictable one, where publishers and other information suppliers are merging, titles are cancelled and/or changed, platforms are upgraded and/or migrated, the terms of licences are reviewed and new commercial models for libraries and users are emerging. The increasing number of electronic resources available at the EUI Library requires new skills and competences among staff, as well as a shift in staff allocation.

In 2014, the work on the long-term preservation of digital collections proceeds with both centralised (i.e. Portico) and distributed programmes (i.e. LOCKSS and CLOCKSS). The EUI Library systematically negotiated the inclusion of a preservation clause in licence agreements with all publishers. The project on shared preservation of paper collections with Tuscan libraries was successfully established and continued throughout 2014 with other libraries joining the scheme.

The Library continues its commitment to Open Access initiatives, maintaining the EUI's institutional repository Cadmus (which is ranked 1st in Italy and among the world's top 100 repositories) and participating in international programmes (see below for more detailed information). Furthermore the EUI Library maintains a sizeable Data Portal, providing access to major data resources in support of the research objectives of the EUI community. Library data services have been expanded to include support for Open Data initiatives, data ‘brokering’ and metadata support. These services are outlined in the 2014 Library Research Data Guide.

In 2013, following a rigorous selection procedure, the supplier of software for a web-discovery service was chosen. In 2014, working closely with the provider, the Library implemented the new discovery service (‘Primo’) and launched it at the start of the new academic year. This system offers advanced solutions to better exploit local and remote resources enabling users to carry out simultaneous searching across multiple digital and paper collection using a single integrated interface. An innovative Virtual Journal Display offering a selection of the current tables of contents of important full-text journals available at the EUI Library was also launched.

The Library website, a central point for accessing and disseminating information, has been updated continuously so as to facilitate research and deliver a wide range of user services across the EUI campus. To respond to these new developments and expand user awareness, fifty-seven separate user training courses have been offered during the year on a wide range of subject areas. Information on services, new resources and of a more general nature is channelled to users by means of a news column on the Library web, a library blog (with an associated Twitter account), and an awareness service for electronic resources. Communication from users was facilitated by carrying out a User Satisfaction survey covering all aspects of the Library’s services, facilities and collections: 92% of respondents agreed that ‘overall, the Library collection fits my research needs’; 98% agreed that ‘overall, the Library provides a good service to me’. In September, the Library also organised a well-attended Open Afternoon to welcome new users.

Library staff participated in several workshops and conferences which, as well contributing to diverse international professional networks, allowed them to keep abreast of the rapidly evolving environment in scholarly communication, both from a content and technical point of view. The Library continued its participation in national and international networks, which resulted in important benefits for the staff and the user community. The Library is a member of several associations such as LIBER (the Association of European Research Libraries), the EUROLIB group consisting of Libraries of the European Institutions and agencies, and IFLA— the International Federation of Library Associations. The Library will also pursue its fruitful collaboration with OCLC (WorldCat) and the consortium of Italian universities for the acquisition of electronic resources. Furthermore the Library continues its traineeship programme in collaboration with university library schools in different EU countries: in 2014 young librarians from the Czech Republic, Greece, Italy, Sweden and Spain participated in the programme.

INSTITUTIONAL REPOSITORY— SHARING AND COMMUNICATING THE EUI’S RESEARCH OUTPUT IN 2014

The Library is responsible for the management and monitoring of Cadmus, the EUI Research Repository. The mission of Cadmus (cadmus.eui.eu) is twofold: to collect and archive publications by EUI members based on research carried out while at the EUI, and to disseminate and communicate the Institute’s research output to the international academic community. The Cadmus website received almost 300,000 visits in 2014.

In line with the principle of Open Access, Cadmus aims at making the full-text publications freely searchable and accessible to all. The EUI signed the Budapest Open Access Initiative on the occasion of its 10th Anniversary in 2012 and in the previous year the Berlin Declaration on Open Access to Knowledge in the Sciences and Humanities. The software used for Cadmus, DSpace, is an Open Archive Initiative (OAI)-compliant open-source software. OAI-adds to the visibility of EUI publications since other OAI portals may harvest and display automatically its bibliographic metadata. Cadmus is also compliant with OpenAIRE— the Open Access Infrastructure for Research in Europe. In practice this means that all publications resulting from EU funding (FP7/ERC/Horizon2020) are also made available on the OpenAIRE portal <https://www.openaire.eu/>

During International Open Access week (20-26 October), in order to raise awareness of the importance of open access among EUI members, Cadmus staff organised the fourth annual Open Access week at the EUI. This year’s roundtable entitled ‘Young Scholars between Open Access and Traditional Publishing’ took place on Thursday, 23 October at the Badia Fiesolana. The roundtable, chaired by EUI Library Deputy Director, Peter Kennealy, contained presentations on Cadmus and OA at the EUI by EUI Repository Manager Lotta Svantesson; Prof. Gary Hall, Coventry University; Co-founder / Co-director of Open Humanities Press gave a talk on Rebel OA: or How (Not) to Publish in the Era of Open Access, Open Data and Open Source; Marc van den Berg, Director Library & IT-Services at Tilburg University, illustrated The Dutch road to open access: fool’s gold. At the end of the roundtable Thomas Bourke, EUI Library Economics Information specialist, gave a presentation on Open Data at the EUI.

In line with EUI and EU Open Access policies, improvements on the DSpace platform were made, usage Statistics in Google analytics were improved and an additional Statistics module purchased. Work and plans have begun to upgrade to the most recent version of DSpace.

Staff continued its efforts to increase coverage of EUI members’ publications in Cadmus as well as providing assistance on copyright matters and information on Open Access.

To keep up with new developments in scholarly communication and open access initiatives and solutions, Cadmus staff attended the conference 'Open Repositories 2014' which took place in Helsinki from 9-13 June.

Some of the most significant improvements and achievements during the year included the EUI Repository's rise in rankings among international repositories. In July 2014 we were ranked second in Italy, 79th in Europe, and 121st world-wide. In January 2015, we rose to first in Italy, 40th in Europe and 68th among institutional repositories over the world (rankings are based on figures for previous six months).

At the end of 2014, Cadmus contained 16,379 records with over 4,400 available in full-text. More than 1,700 records were added to Cadmus during 2014 (some of which were for publications prior to 2014). The continuing increase in the number of records can be seen in the graph below.

We also implemented the EUI regulations regarding the archiving of PhD / LLM theses. As of 1 September 2014, full-texts of theses defended at the EUI are now archived in Cadmus under either immediate open access or with a four-year embargo. A total of 250 EUI theses are available in OA, and more than 340 theses were OCR scanned (for digital archiving).

In 2014 Cadmus achieved the highest number ever of visits per month: nearly 30,000 both in October and November (and over 70,000 page views). There were over 266,000 visits and nearly 660,000 page views total for all of 2014. Monthly statistics on visits are illustrated in the above graph.

The more than 16,000 publications records in Cadmus are divided as follows between various types of publications:

THE EUI'S RESEARCH OUTPUT IN 2014

In 2014 over 1,000 academic publications were produced by EUI members and registered in Cadmus, the EUI Institutional Repository. In line with the EUI's open access policy, these publications are available in full-text whenever possible.

ACADEMIC EVENTS

SPECIAL REPORT ON STATE OF THE UNION 2014

The State of the Union conference is an annual event for high-level reflection on the European Union, organised by the European University Institute (EUI). The conference's fourth edition brought together leading academics, policy-makers, civil society representatives, business and opinion leaders to discuss both the future of the social and political model for Europe, and the next European elections.

The event took place over three days: on 7 and 8 May, the debates and sessions were held at the European University Institute, Badia Fiesolana, and on 9 May, the anniversary of the Schuman Declaration, the event took place in the historical venue of Palazzo Vecchio (Florence's City Hall).

With the 2014 European Parliamentary (EP) elections taking place at the end of May 2014, this year's State of the Union stood out for its full-on engagement with European politics. Through a diverse programme of lectures, sessions and panel discussions, the event addressed difficult questions concerning EU Foreign Policy, European unity, democratic legitimacy in the EU, and the European social model. It also took a retrospective look at the EU's reaction to the economic crisis, and discussed how this year's European Parliament elections might be different from previous editions.

In an effort to bring these issues close to the general public, we were especially honoured to host and moderate a live televised debate among the candidates running for the Presidency of the European Commission that was broadcast live on RAI News 24.

Finally, as an additional service to voters, we presented euandi, an online voting advice application. This tool not only enables potential voters to identify the European parties most representative of their preferences, but, with the use of social media technology, allows them to locate themselves within a virtual European political community.

The conference scientific programme was elaborated and supervised by The State of the Union's Scientific Committee: J.H.H. Weiler, President of the EUI (Chair); Pasquale Ferrara, Secretary General of the EUI, Stephan Albrechtskirchinger, Director of the EUI Communications Service; Bernard Hoekman, GGP Programme Director Global Economics: Trade, Investment and Development, EUI ; Alexander H. Trechsel, Professor of Political Science and Director of EUDO, EUI and Professor Anna Triandafyllidou, Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies.

PARTICIPATION

The sessions held at the Badia Fiesolana on 7 and 8 May (opening debate, parallel sessions and the book presentation by the President of the EC) were attended in total by about 400 people, the majority of which consisting of academics.

The sessions in Palazzo Vecchio on 9 May saw the participation of 597 registered participants (upon invitation only). The majority of participants came from academic institutions (272), followed by national, international and European institutions (126), Bank, Companies and Business Institutions (43), and a wide range of other organisations (156). Participants from 21 countries attended the sessions in Palazzo Vecchio.

Around one-third of the participants (187) belong to the EUI community. The majority of them are researchers or research assistants (84), followed by professors (23), fellows and staff members.

It needs to be noted that members of the EUI community, whose country of origin has not been counted in the final numbers, belong mainly to the 20 member states that have an agreement with the Institute. Consequently, the real number of countries represented in the audience is certainly higher.

PRESS COVERAGE

There were 202 journalists and operators attending and reporting on the Conference on 9 May, while 23 attended the Opening Debate on 7 May and 15 attended the parallel sessions on 8 May. Leading international and national media, such as The Financial Times, FAZ, Le Monde, The Economist, BBC World News, Agence France Press, Il Sole 24 Ore, SKYTG24 ANSA, La Nazione, RAI, Corriere della Sera, attended the conference. Most of the media representatives came from media outlets with a national coverage in Italy, but a consistent number of people also came from local and international media.

The media coverage produced more than 250 press pieces (online and printed articles, photos galleries) and 40 video reportages.

Among the press pieces, more than 40 belonged to International leading media like Financial Times, Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, Bloomberg News, EurActiv and others. RAI News 24 has broadcast live the Presidential Debate, and has featured various videos in their daily news coverage. The event was also featured in online national and local television channels such as Repubblica TV, Mediaset TgCOM, Europa Quotidiano, RTV38 and InToscana.

The Financial Times produced a special report on Europe that was published and distributed in the newspaper's printed edition of 9 May 2014.

ADVERTISEMENT

The EUI signed knowledge partnership agreements with the Financial Times, FAZ, RAI News 24 and Media Partnership agreements with Le Monde, EurActiv and ANSA.

Through these agreements the EUI secured a worldwide advertisement campaign in print and online as well as dedicated media coverage for the event. The estimated value of the partnership agreements is over 300.000 EUR.

The FT also published the special report on the European Union based on the data and information collected during a dedicated workshop with EUI Professors.

Four quarter page advertisements in print were run by the Financial Times and four third page advertisements by FAZ. EurActiv and Ansa media ran electronic advertising campaigns on their websites (in the form of permanent and rotating banners and leaderboard impressions) and social media. A Technical Partnership with Airport of Florence granted the possibility of installing 2 permanent banners and 1 totem in the gate area and arrival hall of Florence FLR Peretola Airport (estimate value 5.000 EUR).

WEB, LIVE STREAMING AND SOCIAL MEDIA

On 9 May, page views on The State of the Union website were over 29.000 (+ 123,24% compared to last year: 13.005). Page views from mobile devices (tablet and smartphone) were more than 6.300 (+320% compared to last year: 1500).

During the TV debate more than 700 people were simultaneously connected to the live streaming. The live streaming got a total of 5.533 visits (estimated minutes watched 140,101) and the euandi promotional video had 6,220 visits (estimated minutes watched 2,583).

The impact on social media was quite significant, especially on Twitter where the HashTag of the conference #SoU2014 was included in top trends (category politics) and even in category general. Estimated number of tweets that included the hashtag is about 4,500 (retweets are not counted).

During the period around the conference, our Youtube channel reached over 37.000 views with particular attention for euandi promotional videos, state of the union trailers and sessions.

FUNDRAISING AND BUDGET

The State of the Union 2014 was funded with the generous donation of Ente Cassa di Risparmio di Firenze (40.000 EUR). The EUI provided the remaining funds to cover the expenses of the three days Conference (approx. 23.000 EUR).

Several Technical Partnership agreements with providers and catering partners resulted in substantial savings: reduced audio and video set up costs (discount of 5.000 EUR), complimentary Hotel accommodation for the institutional speakers (estimated value of over 4.000 EUR) and additional complimentary Tuscan typical products (food and wine) and coffee (estimated value of over 20.000 EUR).

PATRONAGE AND PARTNERSHIPS

The conference was organised under the high patronage of the President of the Italian Republic and the patronage of the Italian Presidency of the Council of Ministers, the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Italian Department of EU Policy, the European Commission Representation in Italy and the Information Office of the European Parliament in Italy.

The Financial Times, RAI News 24 and the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung were knowledge partners of The State of the Union 2014, together with Le Monde, ANSA and Euractiv as media partners.

The State of the Union 2014 was made possible thanks to the support of the Comune di Firenze and the Ente Cassa di Risparmio di Firenze as corporate partners.

2. SERVICES

REPORTS ON SERVICES

ACADEMIC SERVICE

2014 represented a year of change for the Academic Service.

On the 1st of February 2014 Veerle Deckmyn took over the management of Academic Service from Andreas Frijdal. Various tasks were rationalised and redistributed among staff members. This was the case for areas related to grants, diplomas/certificates and exchange programmes. Some tasks previously dealt with by the Academic Service were transferred to more appropriate services. The organisation of the High Council meetings and the secretariat of the Alumni Association were transferred to the Office of the Secretary-General and to the Communications Service respectively.

The Service welcomed a new staff member, Lorenzo Ghezzi and said farewell to Françoise Thauvin who retired in November 2014. Preparations have begun for the succession of Ken Hulley who will retire in 2015 and worked part-time in 2014.

A great deal of work was put into Rethinking the Doctoral Programme and strengthening the post-doctoral programme. The Academic Service actively participated in these discussions together with the Dean of Graduate Studies and the Directors of Graduate Studies. The implementation of changes to the programmes will be gradually introduced and an assessment will follow in 2015-2016.

With regard to International Networking several contacts were made with China, Brazil and Columbia to open up the EUI programmes to non EU countries. The Russian WED programme was consolidated; a framework agreement between the EP and the EUI was concluded; and the agreement between the EUI and the College of Europe was renewed. Efforts were made to strengthen contacts through Erasmus Mundus; to examine new possibilities through the Erasmus + programme and to find teaching opportunities for EUI doctoral researchers in Europe and beyond. In 2014 an agreement was concluded with the University of Florence offering teaching trainer opportunities to our more advanced researchers/post-docs.

In 2014 Academic Service inventorised current agreements with other universities, departments and centres with the aim of analysing the agreements and establishing policy guidelines for future cooperation agreements. This work will continue into 2015.

After reviewing the offer of Academic Skills it was decided to increasingly include language skills and soft skills of various types, crucial in a multilingual, multicultural research environment. Where possible, Academic Skills offered to Fellows have now also been opened up to interested Researchers and vice versa.

The Teaching Skills courses, so far given by externals, were taken over by the English language teachers so as to ensure continuity and to provide the researches with an internal contact point for further follow up and questions.

Considerable efforts were made together with the Dean of Studies and the Communications Service to increase the visibility of the PhD programme on the website, via social media and by giving presentations in various EU countries on the EUI and its programmes. Where possible Alumni Association members were also involved in this communications activity.

A first revision on both content and lay out of the Academic Service's website was concluded in 2014. This exercise will continue in 2015.

ICT support on the database Osiris— essential for the smooth working of the doctoral programme— was generously provided in 2014. The project progressed but more resources need be allocated to fully implement the project. The question of resources will need to be addressed in 2015.

The Counselling and Wellbeing Service presented its services to new researchers and fellows and organised various workshops during the year, which were open to all EUI members. The external counsellor was replaced by a new external psychologist in September. The new person was fully briefed on the EUI, its academic life and challenges and academic rules, so as to ensure better integration and increase understanding of the needs of EUI members seeking advice and help.

In collaboration with the REFS two rooms were made available in Villa Paola to accommodate the Counselling and Wellbeing service.

The September Programme for newcomers was adjusted to provide more time for presentations, which researchers need and expect upon their arrival at the EUI.

Extracurricular Activities are of great importance for the smooth integration of EUI members. In 2014 some 22 groups were active, and various performances and activities took place involving the whole EUI community. A summary of the year for '4-B' follows.

SPECIAL REPORT FROM ACADEMIC SERVICES: SUPPORTING EUI COMMUNITY THROUGH 4B

Under the umbrella of the so called 4B (Body, Brain and Boosting Board), 2014 was a particularly gratifying year for extracurricular activities at the EUI. The number of sporting and cultural clubs was consolidated and the resulting output and level of participation was particularly impressive. It's impossible to list all the events that occurred during the year, but what follows are some of the highlights which indicate the scope and versatility of these groups. 4B activities are open to the entire EUI community, their partners and families. They bind the Institute together and are integral to the well-being of its members. Many activities have the added advantage of bringing the EUI into the local Florentine community.

Football has been a popular sport at the EUI for nearly two decades now. After the historically successful 2012/2013 season, in which the EUI male football team won the AICS B2 League, the Squadra Fantastica, one of the oldest institutions of 4B, competed for the first time in the B1 League, ending up 4th in the final classification. Memorable was the 1-0 victory against the leaders and winners of the league and the meeting with President J.H.H. Weiler and Italian Prime Minister Matteo Renzi.

The women's football team, the Mad Cows, also a team with a long and colourful history, continues to participate in a local calcetto league.

The Coppa Pavone, the annual intramural tournament played on the villa Schifanoia pitch, is as popular as ever among the entire EUI community. In 2014 18 teams competed, involving more than 200 players, including researchers, fellows, faculty, staff and their families. For the second year in a row, the traditional co-ed tournament was flanked by the Coppa Pavone femminile.

The Rowing Club similarly flourished. In early Spring, along the Arno, under the arches of Ponte Vecchio, alongside the Società Canottieri Firenze and Aviron ESCP Europe, the three clubs participated in the first ever De Gasperi-Schuman Cup regatta. Races included men's eights, women's eights, mixed eights and male coxless fours.

The culmination of the year was inevitably the 'Vogalonga', the historic 32 km race in Venice. The preparation and organization for this race was challenging and the Club is to be congratulated on having been there on the day.

But the other EUI clubs must not be forgotten. Members of the Running Club were invited to train for a variety of marathons at home and abroad. One of the most popular is the Florence Marathon where EUI members took off this year with some 9430 runners. In the Autumn, the Hiking Club combined hikes and culture. The first hike saw Cararra Marble and La Spezia, followed by hikes around Anghiari-Arezzo, San Gimignano, Volterra, Val d'Orcia, and a grand finale with olive and wine tasting in a medieval castle in the Chianti.

The Climbing Club diversified this year and dedicated more time to rock climbing and bouldering in Tuscany.

Whereas the EUI Tennis Club contracted with a Florentine club and subsequently organized tennis lessons and drew up a tennis ladder to cover all levels. The alternative tennis group continued its activities and held the 4th Coppa Palomba, a mixed doubles tennis tournament.

An interesting development was the inauguration of the Orto Sociale. Gardeners were invited to clean up a patch of earth near Villa Raimondi and grow their own produce. According to the Researchers' Community, the tomatoes were a huge success.

On the arts side, the programme was just as interesting and creative. The theatre groups (one in English, the other in French) performed throughout the year. They are complementary, their productions varying, ranging from Boccaccio to Düringer, Some like it Hot to an evening of French poetry reading with a piano accompaniment.

The musicians and vocalists excelled themselves. Both the Choir, the smaller Women's Ensemble and the EUI Music Society were present, as is the norm, at EUI events throughout the year. At Christmas they joined together and held a Concert in the Badia Church. Classical and folk music vied with each other, the whole concluding with excerpts from Handel's Messiah. It was truly a memorable occasion.

The evening ended with performances by the EUI Rock bands, although not strictly 4B, testimony to the talent and diversity within the EUI Community.

But the activities do not stop here. Some of the clubs collaborated in the academic life of the Institute. In particular the Cineclub which joined forces with the International Law Working Group, the Seminar on Surveillance and Human / Fundamental Rights, as well as the Language Centre and screened films specific to the topics in hand.

And beyond the EUI, relations continued to be forged with the city. Many of the clubs depend on external members' participation to maintain their impetus throughout the academic year. We invite externals to take part in our events with a resulting synergy. But we are also invited to take part in events in the city. Memorable the participation of the EUI Choir and the French Theatre Group at the Museo d' Avanzati in September when the groups performed music and recited poetry from the end of the nineteenth century to the general public.

Facilities are inevitably limited at the EUI, so some groups have had to find alternative locations. Mention has already been made of the Rowing Club and the Tennis Club, but this applies also to the indoor climbers, the tango dancers, the swimmers and the basketball players (with New York University). All groups have found host clubs where they can pursue their activities.

ACCOUNTING SERVICE

The Accounting Service's main tasks include the management of the treasury and the registration of all the documents related to revenue and expenditure. It is also responsible for the proper implementation of payments sent by the different services and the collection of revenue, and for this purpose it is responsible for the correct management of the master data of vendors and customers.

All the transactions are registered during the calendar year using the double entry method. The accounts are closed at the end of the financial year in order to prepare the Final Accounts, which must contain the financial statements and the report on the implementation of the budget of the Institute.

Above and beyond the basic tasks mentioned above, in 2014 the main objective of the Service was to implement the go-live of the new accrual-based accounting system starting from January. This enterprise required the involvement of all the financial sectors of the Institute. In addition it was also necessary to enlist the help of external consultants at various points throughout the year. In fact the new accrual principles involved profound changes in the document workflow, in the responsibility of the financial actors and in the new accounting principles, which have an impact on the closure of the accounts. The new system uses SAP software, which is also used by the Council, the Court of Justice and the Court of Auditors of the EU. The effects of this partnership are very important, in that the EUI is no longer isolated by being the sole user of the old Sucre accounting software. It should also not be underestimated that the costs the Institute will pay are only around 4% of the total maintenance costs of the very expensive SAP platform. It would not have been possible for the EUI to adhere to this program without this savings.

In 2014 the Accounting Service also coordinated the call for tenders for the bank responsible for the management of the EUI's bank accounts. The tender was awarded to the Banca CR Firenze in July. The new contract foresees a yearly renewal for a maximum of six times. New conditions were obtained both for the Institute's bank accounts and for the private accounts of the staff. A significant improvement was also obtained in terms of interest rates despite the currently very low Euribor.

In addition, the Service also collaborated in the procedure for a new actuarial study as foreseen by the rules and requested by the Supervisory Board of the Pension Reserve Funds. Contacts were made with Eurostat which, although not in the position to directly take in charge the calculation of the benefit liabilities of the Institute (as the EUI is not part of the European institutions), allowed the Institute to use their actuarial assumptions. They also offered their very experienced collaboration in case of need during the meetings foreseen with the company that won the tender for the preparation of the actuarial study. The results are expected to be approved by the High Council in 2015.

BUDGET AND FINANCIAL SERVICE

The main mission of the Service is to assist the Principal and Secretary General in organising and rationalising the EUI's administrative financial operations, actively supporting the academic section in achieving its institutional goals as provided for in the Convention in terms of teaching and research.

Realization of yearly objectives

New Accrual approach:

In 2014, following the adoption of an accrual based accounting system the Budget and Financial Affairs service as well as the whole financial administration was involved in the implementation of this important horizontal project.

New 'organisation of the financial services'

The BFA elaborated a new system defining specific procedures taking into consideration the need to, first and foremost, clarify the competencies and responsibilities of the financial management.

New Financial rules

The new organisation of the financial services and the new accrual approach required an analysis and a revision of the EUI financial rules. The accounting principles laid down in the new version of the Financial Rules follow those of the Financial Regulation applicable to the general budget of the European Union.

Public procurement:

The service under the coordination of the EUI Legal Advisor worked on the reform of the EUI's Public Procurement Regulatory framework, streamline and consolidating the procedure and realigning them on the main trends of the EUI legislation.

2014 EC contribution to the budget (new activities: multiannual financial framework)

Pursuant to the European Commission's decision to continue providing specific support to the EUI through the Jean Monnet Programme in the framework of the financial perspectives 2014-2020, the Service was asked to define specific technical scenarios.

External Audits

The BFA Staff's support was also requested for the various Audit activities: formal EUI Auditors appointed by the High Council, Internal Audit Service, external Audit activities on specific projects, external Audit activities on the EU running cost contribution to the budget and an additional and specific audit has been carried out as a result of the EC contribution to the Institute.

The final results of the different audits were that practically all the expenses claimed by the EUI were considered as eligible project costs and therefore no adjustment was requested.

A new approach with BC/HC delegates. How to better present documents?

At the request of some delegations to the Budget Committee and High Council meetings some adjustments were made to the structure of the set of documents. It was also decided to add on an experimental basis an information day to be held on the eve of the Budget Committee formal session.

The BFA Service acting as secretariat was actively involved in the analysis made by the Troika in order to reevaluate the on-going procedure.

Activities of the new Administrative Site Officers (ASO) infrastructure

As per the mandate received by the President/SG the ASO structure (unit of the service which manages the local budget of the academic units) was rearranged in order to create synergies while maintaining the strict link between departments and financial administration.

The new structure consisting of 2 ASOs supported by a third part-time colleague became fully operational in 2014 managing the four department budgets including grants, lump sums for research projects and Research Council allocations.

The Evolution of Day-to-day Administration

To give a better idea of the scope of the activities performed by the Service, it will help to recall that it manages the financial administration of the budget relating to:

- The statutory staff of the Institute
- The externally-funded research activities budget
- The operating budget of all the academic departments/centres, and all the administrative units (with the sole exception of the Library – running cost budget);

In other words, in addition to the standard co-ordination of the general budget expenditure, the employees in this Service are required to perform direct administrative operations relating to approximately 97% of the budget.

Externally-funded Activities

The area which has developed most in the last years is that dedicated to supporting the top management and academic staff in their fundraising activities. This applies both to the initial phase of negotiating the financing and to the relative financial administration.

■ COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE

The Communications Service (CS) is responsible for implementing the EUI Communication Strategy. The Service works closely with the Office of the Secretary General and the Office of the President, and interacts with the EUI Departments, Centres and Services in order to advise, support or directly implement communication plans. Through both daily support and special initiatives, we seek to streamline internal and external communication and create a common corporate identity and voice for the Institute.

The CS has been organised into three main areas of expertise and action, all of which have steadily grown in reach since its founding in 2011. These three areas of activities include (1) centralised web services, multimedia and audio visuals; (2) publications, editing, corporate identity and design; and (3) media and public relations, alumni relations, visits and events.

The Service is directed as an integrated team, with strong collaboration required across the three areas, and with other Services, for major initiatives such as the State of the Union Conference and the PhD campaign.

In 2014 the Communications Service supported and maintained the EUI main website as well as all projects, events and blog websites, bringing innovation and implementing new technologies relevant to the EUI general and specific needs in the web related areas. Important updates and features were added to the Content Management System in 2014, and the CS offered numerous training opportunities to the more than 100 web professionals across the Institute. In addition, we implemented new web analytics tools to better monitor web traffic, enabling us to better evaluate and adjust our web communications strategies.

In 2014 the CS produced and supported publications engaging members, stakeholders, and the broader public through the electronic magazine EUI Times; the electronic newsletter EUI Life; news items and interviews on the homepage; the President's Annual Report; and brochures, reports and other promotional items for the RSCAS, the MWP, the departments, services and numerous projects across the Institute. The CS offered continued support to users of corporate materials with templates for materials including EUI stationery, corporate covers on academic publications, and the like. The CS oversaw or advised on the production of all branded materials in 2014 which ranged from doctoral certificates to media backdrops to signage to the offer in the EUI shop.

In 2014 the CS further consolidated significant, long-term relationships with top-ranking international and national media, including the Financial Times, Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, Le Monde, ANSA, New York Times, The Economist, Wall Street Journal and Reuters. Several media partnerships were signed with top international and national media to secure free advertisement for the EUI and special events such as The State of the Union conference and the EUI Energy Forum.

The Service coordinated and/or supported more than 50 high-level, multi-stakeholder visits and events. In 2014 it coordinated the fourth State of the Union annual conference (a more complete report follows in a later section), which has been an extraordinary mechanism to increase the EUI's visibility worldwide, developing awareness of the EUI, its reputation and mission. Nearly 600 individuals and 202 journalists participated in the event. The 2014 event was especially notable as it included one of only three live televised debates with all candidates for the EC presidency.

The CS manages the EUI database's marketing lists, and last year ran several targeted mass mailing campaigns to publicise EUI institutional and academic initiatives.

In 2014 we worked closely with the Academic Service, the Dean of Studies and the departments to increase the visibility of the PhD campaign. This involved the production of new web pages with new content; revised promotional materials, and the coordination of 12 'road show' presentations which took place across Europe and included the participation of faculty and alumni.

With Alumni Relations completely transferred to the CS in 2014, we made concentrated efforts to more deeply engage EUI alumni on various fronts. The CS worked on the development of the Alumni Directory, and has reached out to alumni through online initiatives such as 'Return to your alma mater'. The CS provided exceptional support and publicity during the Alumni Association's Executive Committee elections in Autumn, and involved 'Alumni ambassadors' as contact persons for prospective candidates during the PhD campaign.

■ INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICE

The mission of the ICT Service is to support the European University Institute's (EUI) goal of academic excellence by providing, the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Infrastructure, the mobile & desktop devices, the business applications, and the technical services and solutions necessary for the delivery and support of Learning, Research and Administration. The ICT Service facilitates all data and voice communications over a secure and robust network which links all our academic and administrative staff, and enables collaboration with external agencies, universities, research institutes, the European Commission, government bodies, etc.

Main activities 2014

During 2014 significant progress was made in increasing the quality of many ICT service offerings, particularly the extension of ICT help desk hours, and by the delivery of almost 100% availability of both our internet connectivity and our business application processing.

Given the limited resources available to the ICT Service progress was also made in the key strategic areas of integration of data & business processes, the provision of more extensive wireless network connectivity, and in the management and mitigation of some known technical risks.

Integration of data and business processes

Three key elements of this strategy were implemented during 2014, namely the SAP financial & accounting system, the OSIRIS student administration system, and the ecommerce payments gateway.

The main objectives for the SAP system in its first year of operation were to ensure that the functionality to meet both the daily operational needs and the Institutes' financial and legal reporting obligations were provided and that where necessary the application and financial business processes were enhanced by continuous development and improvement.

The Osiris student record management system was implemented during 2014 to provide the functionality to support Researcher and Fellowship applications and the administration of student records; with additional investment in time and resources Osiris can provide the centralised stable but flexible platform necessary for the streamlining of key Institute academic administration and business processes.

In addition an e-commerce platform was developed which provides the EUI with an electronic payments facility. It is an 'enterprise tool' which can be adapted to many purposes including conference & event payments, membership, fees etc.

and is a professional payments gateway which will integrate seamlessly with our SAP accounting system.

Network Connectivity

Very significant progress was made in the provision of wireless network connectivity. The total coverage area and the number of simultaneous connections were effectively doubled. New wireless base stations were installed on all major campuses and the institute has gained additional coverage both internally and externally.

ICT Risk Mitigation

A major step was taken in addressing institute disaster recovery requirements by the movement of the storage area network (SAN) and cluster to the Villa Salviati data centre. In addition a new uninterruptible power supply (UPS) was installed to ensure that the data centres were actively monitored, and that a reliable back up was available to cover any power outage.

INTERNAL AUDIT SERVICE

In 2014, the focus of the Internal Audit Service's (IAS) efforts remained on the general implementation of the accrual accounting system. The strategic shift of accounting principles entailed fundamental changes in financial management, which, in turn, required validation by the Internal Auditor. IAS completed its review on the initial setup and control framework of the Accrual Based Accounting (ABAC) project, nine months after the system became operational. The review revealed some areas that needed additional tuning and some opportunities for streamlining of the new processes. All recommendations were accepted by the responsible parties and are in the process of being implemented.

Through the course of year, IAS joined efforts with the EUI top management to further strengthen the responsiveness and commitment to corrective actions recommended by IAS. Progress in that direction was made through the introduction of two new steps into the audit process. The first one is a peer review by the Management Team of audit findings and discussion of possible actions to address the issues. This step is intended to bridge and leverage the expertise across the services and find the optimum solution to issues.

The second adjustment to the audit process is foreseen during the follow-up phase. According to the new procedures, issues that remain open beyond the committed date are to be discussed with the President. It is up to him to decide whether the Institute could bear the risk of not addressing the issues or whether the respective parties should proceed with mitigating action plan.

Following the new approach, in December 2014, IAS completed its first formal follow-up study where the mediating role of the President was required. As a result, open issues were reconsidered and new plans for action were drafted. One issue remained open, however management expressed its explicit consent for accepting the risk. In 2014 IAS allocated about a third of its time to advisory services, such as an analysis of the authorized exceptions, review of revised mission reimbursement procedures, and feedback on revised public procurement procedures. The new procurement procedures introduced a new preventative control that requests the advice of the Internal Auditor before and, eventually, after the launch of an open or restricted tender procedure. The advice of the Internal Auditor was requested even prior to the new decision entering into force. At the end of 2014, the compliance check was carried out on the occasion of the EUI Library's open call for tender for the supply of books and REF's restricted procedure for selecting an insurance agent.

Among the activities carried out in 2014 by IAS was the preparation of six independent reports on factual findings for research projects funded by the European Commission and the European Research Council. The total value of certified expenses during 2014 was €4,128,284.

IAS also looked at the Internal Control System and determined that the risk management framework needed further development. The Service recommended that, in the context of the annual risk self-assessment, the EUI Services elaborate on the changes in the ranking of the risks, as compared to previous years, in order to demonstrate pro-active involvement in the overall risk management at the EUI. Furthermore, the Secretary General is recommended to acknowledge all reported risks, focusing on the ones that have been ranked 'High'. A reflection on the adequacy of the mitigating actions reported by the services is also beneficial for underlining the active stand of top management in the risk governance program. The changes in the process were reflected in the guidelines drafted by IAS and were distributed in time for the preparation of the 2014 Annual Activity Reports.

Details for all key activities performed by IAS in 2014 can be found in the Annual Activity Report of the Service, as defined in art. 60 point 4 of the Financial Rules.

PERSONNEL SERVICE

The mission of the Personnel Service is twofold: to assist the President and Secretary General in organising and managing the EUI's administrative operations in the field of human resources and support the academic branch of the EUI in fulfilling its institutional goals as provided for in the Convention in terms of teaching and research.

In pursuing its mission as a horizontal service for the EUI, the Personnel Service: ensures the development and implementation of the Staff Regulations; delivers services from recruitment to retirement; communicates on policies, actions and initiatives of relevance to the EUI staff and academic members, as well as collaborates with the EU institutions on areas linked to the Staff Regulations and its activities.

Realization of yearly objectives

EUI staff rules reform

The EUI has been traditionally applying mutatis mutandis the Staff Regulations of the officials and others servants of the European Union. In 2014, following the EU Staff Reform, the Personnel Service headed the discussions and negotiations on the revision of the EUI Staff Rules after considering those of the EU Staff. The Working Group created on that purpose presented an agreed document for evaluation by the President and the Secretary General (30 June 2014), which has been subsequently submitted slightly, revised and approved by the High Council (5 December 2014). The EUI reform package strikes the balance between the necessary drive for economies in response to the EU crisis and the ability of our Institute to deliver its policies. The main changes introduced are in the areas of: careers, retirement age, working hours, expatriation and foreign residence allowances, annual travelling time and travel payment.

Major human resources turnover and personnel replacement

The Personnel Service was devoted to manage the significant turnover of top managers and highly experienced members of the EUI administrative staff. On this respect, vacancy notices have been reviewed and modernised with the contribution of the Legal Advisor. Moreover, the EUI vacancy notices have been systematically published at the European Personnel and Selection Office (EPSO) website strengthening therefore the Institute's visibility within and outside the EU but also addressing geographical imbalances. The Personnel Service will continue improving recruitment processes.

Recruitment of teaching staff: partners' policy

On the basis of the guidelines received by the President, the Service proposed the development of a new policy for the employment of teaching staff partners in different fields of the EUI's activities in order to uphold their settlement and integration in Florence. The creation of this new type of contracts (i.e. Academic/Administrative Associate) has been financed from external funds (overheads). In particular, in 2014 two administrative associates and one academic associate have been recruited.

Legal framework and the revision of the EUI statutory texts

In the framework of the EUI strategic objective of re-organising and harmonising the EUI legal texts, the Personnel Service continued its strategy on this direction. The emphasis was primarily given to the preparation of the documents for the revision of the Staff Regulations applicable to Permanent Staff Members and Conditions of Employment of Other Servants (CEOS) of the EUI as well as to the Conditions of Employment of Teaching Staff (CETS) of the EUI.

Reinforcing the administrative links with the European Institutions

In the course of the 2014 the Personnel Service strengthened the relationship with the EU Institutions. More specifically, inter-institutional agreements with the European Parliament (June 2014) and the Council of the EU have brought an added value in the areas of competence of the Personnel Service. Moreover, existing collaborations with PMO (Office for the Administration and Payment of individual Entitlements), the Joint Sickness Insurance Scheme (JSIS), PMO salary, the Accident Insurance as well as EPSO (European Personnel Selection Office) has been further exploited.

■ REAL ESTATE AND FACILITIES SERVICE (REFS)

The Real Estate and Facilities Service (REFS) is responsible for the maintenance of buildings, grounds and technical infrastructure; security and safety; environmental services; the purchase office; EUI canteens; the housing services; the welcome service; organization of events; management and distribution of furniture and official materials; document reproduction and printing; translations, mail service, central filing and protocol office; the EUI crèche and the outsourced Travel Agency.

Created on 1 October 2012, 2014 was a year for the still 'fledgling' REFS to define its identity and potential. Beyond providing the usual day-to-day services mentioned above, in 2014 the REFS concentrated on the below initiatives, including a user survey assessing its performance in all main areas.

GREEN Action Plan

The REFS energy-saving campaign was the main action plan item for 2014 with the aim of reducing the consumption of water, electricity, natural gas and heating oil at the EUI, as to contain energy price increases in a zero growth budget context. The Service launched a massive awareness campaign encouraging water and energy conservation and implemented various technical measures to reduce consumption. The REFS achieved its objective of an average overall 15% decrease in consumption of these water and energy. The action plan will continue in 2015 with savings reinvested in further structural measures to reduce consumption.

Space management

The Service manages 16 buildings, for a total area of 31,000 m<sup>2</sup>. The building management programme which was put in place in 2013 requires important investments and in 2014 resources were dedicated to implementation and customization of the software Realgar.

User support

The Service manages day-to-day life troubleshooting for 1100 EUI users. In 2013 it launched the EUI Helpdesk and in 2014 this instrument was consolidated. The last user survey showed a high user satisfaction with the tool. In light of this, in 2014 the REF worked on a feasibility analysis to develop the Helpdesk into an enlarged information/assistance desk which will involve all administrative services dealing with user services. In parallel, the REFS web pages were improved to facilitate access to logistics and practical information concerning working and everyday life at the EUI. The publication of specific policies, rules & regulations, guidelines and special agreements was implemented.

Consolidation of main rationalisation processes

One of the important potentials of the new REFS is synergies and rationalisation in the sectors which previously were divided. In the area of building maintenance, which absorbs 15% of the Service budget, we organised a unique tender for one provider to be accountable for the overall maintenance of systems and structures of the EUI's campus and for minor refurbishment works. With this new organisation we were able to consolidate the management of services from about 20 small contracts (and providers) to one; to increase the number of maintenance personnel from 2 to 5 workers; and to rationalise the car fleet and provide a service level agreement with measurable performances monitored through Key Performance Indicators (KPIs).

USER SURVEY

The first REFS survey was launched in July 2014, and 283 people completed it. The survey covered the various areas that fall under the management of the Service and results show a general trend of good/very good levels of user satisfaction (3.79/5). A full report on the survey may be found at:

ANNEX 1: FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT WITH THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT

ACCORD DE PARTENARIAT

Le Parlement européen, rue Wiertz B-1047 Bruxelles, représenté par son Président, Monsieur Martin SCHULZ et

L'Institut Universitaire Européen, ci-après dénommé l'IUE, Via dei Roccettini 9, 50014 San Domenico di Fiesole (FI), représenté par son Président, Professeur Joseph H.H. WEILER

- Considérant la priorité du Parlement européen à améliorer le soutien offert aux Membres du Parlement surtout dans leurs activités législatives;
- Considérant l'intérêt de l'IUE à inscrire au cœur de la réalité institutionnelle du Parlement Européen les actions qu'elle développe avec ses partenaires européens sur les carrières, la gouvernance et les politiques européennes,
- Considérant la contribution à la compréhension des politiques européennes offerte par les travaux du Centre Robert Schuman, du programme Max Weber ainsi que par les Archives Historiques de l'Union,
- Considérant l'intérêt mutuel des deux parties à s'engager dans un partenariat pérenne facilitant l'accès aux documents respectifs et aux initiatives mutuelles, ainsi qu'à leurs relations administratives et à définir les modalités de cette coopération pour en assurer le plein développement,

DÉCIDENT

D'établir un accord de partenariat en vue de faciliter la coopération entre le Parlement européen (PE) d'une part et l'Institut Universitaire Européen (IUE) d'autre part.

Article 1 : Objet de la présente convention

Différents champs de coopération entre les deux institutions ont été identifiés:

- facilitation de l'accès aux documents produits par les deux partenaires;
- conception et élaboration des rapports et des études,
- accueil et organisation d'événements (p. ex. colloques et conférences),
- coopération entre les services des deux institutions,
- organisation et participation aux cycles de formation,
- accueil de stagiaires,
- échange de membres du Personnel,
- accueil des chercheurs de l'IUE,
- accueil des Fellows.

Pour chacun de ces champs de coopération, le présent accord établit les modalités générales de collaboration entre les deux institutions. Les modalités plus spécifiques ou afférant aux aspects techniques de la mise en œuvre de cet accord seront définies à un stade ultérieur et sous une forme appropriée (p. ex sous forme de Service-level agreements (SLAs), approuvés par les Secrétaires Généraux des deux institutions).

Article 2: Facilitation de l'accès aux documents produits par les deux partenaires

Le Parlement européen et l'IUE mettront tout en œuvre pour améliorer, dans le respect des règles applicables, l'échange d'informations et l'accès aux documents produits par eux et qui pourraient être susceptibles d'avoir un intérêt dans le cadre des initiatives législatives ou académiques.

Article 3: Conception et élaboration des rapports et des études

Le Parlement européen et l'IUE se déclarent mutuellement intéressés par l'élaboration de rapports et d'études, de documents de synthèse, de recherches sur l'histoire de l'intégration européenne basées sur les archives du Parlement Européen et sur les Archives Historiques de l'Union Européenne, de matériaux d'information etc. dans le cadre d'événements où les deux parties sont impliquées. Dans le cadre des procédures applicables en matière de passation de marchés publics, le Parlement européen pourra inviter l'IUE à lui soumettre des offres pour réaliser des études de recherche, utiles pour le Parlement européen.

Le Parlement européen et l'IUE s'accorderont au cas par cas sur les modalités de mise en œuvre.

Article 4: Accueil et organisation d'événements (p. ex. colloques et conférences)

4.1 : Accueil de manifestations

Le Parlement européen peut accueillir, certaines des manifestations (colloques et conférences) européennes organisées par l'IUE. Ces manifestations donnent lieu à la présentation de demandes spécifiques et font l'objet d'autorisations accordées au cas par cas. Ces demandes doivent être présentées au Secrétaire général du Parlement européen au minimum 12 semaines avant la date de la manifestation et doivent inclure le programme prévu. Dans la mesure du possible le Parlement européen pourra offrir la possibilité du web streaming des colloques et conférences de l'IUE.

4.2 : Co-organisation d'événements

Le Parlement européen peut envisager d'être associé étroitement à certaines de ces manifestations ou d'en être co-organisateur. En cas de co-organisation avec les services compétents du Parlement européen, ces services seront étroitement impliqués dans l'organisation et le déroulement de l'événement, mais aussi à l'élaboration de son contenu. Les services compétents du Parlement européen, ensemble avec l'IUE, définiront le contenu et le programme de l'événement aussi bien que les orateurs à inviter.

En cas de co-organisation, le Secrétaire Général du Parlement européen pourra, compte tenu de l'intérêt et de la nature des manifestations proposées, exonérer l'IUE des frais de location, des frais techniques et des coûts de sécurité générés par l'occupation des salles nécessaires au déroulement des manifestations.

Article 5: Coopération entre les services des deux partenaires

Vue la similarité entre les Statuts et les autres aspects du cadre réglementaire du PE et ceux de l'IUE (par exemple protection des personnes physiques à l'égard du traitement des données à caractère personnel) et vue la volonté de l'IUE de s'aligner étroitement sur les pratiques des Institutions Européennes, les deux institutions s'engagent à une coopération inter-services.

Article 6: Organisation et Participation aux cycles de formation

6.1 La participation des fonctionnaires du Parlement européen et des Membres du Parlement européen aux cycles de formation de l'IUE et vice-versa

L'IUE informe régulièrement l'unité de la formation professionnelle du Parlement européen du programme des activités académiques et de formation qu'il organise. Le Parlement européen peut décider d'y inscrire certains de ses membres ou fonctionnaires (et/ou agents temporaires à condition que les limites quantitatives concernées soient respectées). Ces inscriptions sont exonérées des coûts pédagogiques. Seules, le cas échéant, les dépenses de déplacement et d'hébergement sont prises en charge par le Parlement européen.

Par analogie, le PE donne accès à titre d'information aux listes de formation organisées pour son personnel. L'IUE peut demander l'inscription de son personnel, notamment des membres permanents, agents temporaires et contractuels (nombre maximum à définir) aux formations qu'ils considèrent pertinentes pour leur développement personnel et professionnel. Dans les limites quantitatives qui seront définies dans un stade ultérieur, ces inscriptions sont exonérées des coûts d'inscription. Seules, le cas échéant, les dépenses de déplacement et d'hébergement sont prises en charge par l'IUE.

6.2 Les formations sur mesure

Dans le cadre des procédures applicables en matière de passation de marchés publics et en subsidiarité avec les offres de formation normalement assurées par l'IUE, le Parlement européen pourra inviter l'IUE à lui soumettre des offres de formations sur mesure.

Article 7: Accueil de stagiaires, de chercheurs et de membres du personnel

7.1 Accueil des chercheurs et stagiaires de l'IUE au Parlement européen et des stagiaires du Parlement à l'IUE.

Le Parlement européen se propose d'accueillir des chercheurs et/ou stagiaires de l'IUE en priorité dans les services du Parlement européen les plus pertinents à leur recherche. (à titre indicatif, secrétariats des commissions parlementaires et des délégations, services de recherche parlementaire, service juridique, direction des relations avec les parlements nationaux, séance plénière et programmation législative, Cabinets du Président et du Secrétaire Général).

Cette répartition indicative pourra varier chaque année en fonction des possibilités et besoins spécifiques et de l'actualité du Parlement européen et de l'IUE.

Pendant leur stage au sein de l'institution, les chercheurs et/ou stagiaires de l'IUE sont mis à disposition du Parlement européen. Les conditions et les règles applicables à ce stage sont définies par les Règles Internes relatives aux stages et visites d'études au secrétariat général du Parlement européen du 1 février 2013, conformément à l'article 1d "des stages ad hoc basées sur des accords souscrits entre le Parlement et les organismes tiers". La durée du stage est proposée par l'IUE en fonction de l'organisation pédagogique et agréée par le Parlement européen. Le stage fait l'objet d'une convention individualisée, signée entre le stagiaire, le chef d'unité recrutement et mutation du Parlement européen et le responsable pédagogique de l'IUE. Le chef d'unité recrutement et mutation du Parlement européen fait établir les accréditations nécessaires à l'accès aux bâtiments administratifs et aux lieux de restauration.

Inversement, l'IUE se propose d'accueillir des stagiaires du PE en priorité dans les services de l'IUE. Dans le cadre de cet échange, le stagiaire s'engage à se conformer au règlement intérieur applicable aux stages de l'IUE.

7.2 Échange de membres du Personnel

L'IUE s'engage à communiquer au chef d'unité de la Formation professionnelle du Parlement européen les possibilités d'accueil et d'échange de membres du Personnel du Parlement européen, appartenant à différentes catégories de personnel. L'accueil des membres du personnel du PE ne donne lieu à la facturation d'aucuns frais. Les frais de déplacement et d'hébergement sont à la charge du PE.

Le PE s'engage de même à communiquer ses propres disponibilités d'accueil et d'échange de membres du Personnel de l'IUE. La participation des membres du personnel de l'IUE ne donne lieu à la facturation d'aucuns frais. Les frais de déplacement et d'hébergement sont à la charge de l'IUE.

Par ailleurs, l'Institut s'engage à favoriser l'intervention des Membres et des fonctionnaires du Parlement européen dans le cadre des actions de l'IUE et de ses partenaires européens.

Article 7.3: Accueil des Fellows

Le Secrétaire Général du Parlement Européen peut désigner un fonctionnaire, qui avec l'accord de l'IUE, sera affecté auprès du Centre Robert Schuman ou d'un des autres départements scientifiques de l'Institut. Cet « European Parliament Fellow » mène des travaux sur les développements des politiques institutionnels, y compris l'histoire de l'intégration européenne; il peut participer, le cas échéant, à des séminaires ou ateliers organisés par l'IUE afin d'informer les services du PE concernés des projets de recherche et promouvoir, éventuellement, les documents du PE auprès des chercheurs; il assure le lien fonctionnel entre le PE et l' IUE pour la mise en œuvre de ces activités.

L' IUE peut désigner un chercheur, qui avec l'accord du PE, sera affecté auprès de la Direction Générale Services de Recherche Parlementaire, en vue de la rédaction de son mémoire/article.

Article 8: Modalités de mise en œuvre de l'accord

Aux fins de la bonne coordination des opérations, les partenaires ont désigné une personne de contact pour le suivi de cette convention et de sa mise en œuvre.

Il s'agit du:

- Secrétaire General du PE, ou son représentant,
- et du
- Secrétaire General de l'IUE, ou son représentant,

Article 9: Entrée en vigueur, modalités de révision et termes de l'accord

Le présent accord entre en vigueur le jour de sa signature pour une période de trois années. Le renouvellement se fait par tacite reconduction sauf préavis par écrit au moins trois mois à l'avance d'une des parties signataires à l'autre.

Sur demande de l'un des signataires de l'accord et moyennant un délai de préavis de six mois par courrier adressé d'une partie à l'autre, il peut être mis un terme au présent accord avant le délai d'expiration normalement prévu. Toutefois, les projets engagés doivent être menés à terme, sauf décision contraire et commune des deux parties.

Sur demande de l'un des signataires de l'accord ou sur demande conjointe des personnes de contacts mentionnés à l'article 8, le contenu de l'accord peut être réajusté. Tout réajustement nécessite l'approbation écrite d'un avenant par les deux parties signataires.

Les Secrétaires Généraux du PE et de l'EUI sont mandatés pour toutes révisions techniques du présent texte selon les modalités indiquées ci-dessus.

ANNEX 2: FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT WITH THE EUROPEAN COURT OF JUSTICE

ACCORD ENTRE LA COUR DE JUSTICE DE L'UNION EUROPÉENNE ET L'INSTITUT UNIVERSITAIRE EUROPEEN DE FLORENCE (IUE)

relatif au dépôt, à la conservation et à l'ouverture au public des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne

I. Objet de l'accord

Le dépôt, la conservation et les modalités d'ouverture au public des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne sont réalisés conformément à la décision de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne relative au dépôt des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne auprès des Archives historiques de l'Union européenne (Institut universitaire européen), jointe en annexe.

II. Propriété et inviolabilité

1. Le dépôt des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne à l'IUE n'affecte en rien le régime de propriété de la Cour à l'égard de ces archives et la protection dont elles bénéficient en vertu du Protocole n° 7 annexé au traité sur l'Union européenne et au traité sur le fonctionnement de l'Union européenne et au traité instituant la Communauté européenne de l'énergie atomique et portant sur les privilèges et immunités de l'Union européenne.
2. L'IUE s'assure auprès des autorités de la République italienne que les privilèges et immunités dont il jouit en vertu de la Convention portant sa création et de l'accord de siège conclu avec la République italienne s'appliquent aux activités découlant du versement des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
3. L'IUE s'engage à respecter et à protéger ces droits. De plus, toute action qui pourrait porter atteinte, directement ou indirectement, par quelque moyen que ce soit, à l'inviolabilité des archives historiques sera immédiatement signalée par l'IUE au Greffier de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.

III. Modalités de dépôt, de conservation et de traitement

1. L'IUE s'engage à apporter le plus grand soin quant à la réception du dépôt, à la conservation et au traitement des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne, selon les principes archivistiques.
A cet égard, et sans préjudice des dispositions de l'article IX du présent accord, l'IUE se base sur les normes internationales en matière de protection physique des archives et respecte des règles techniques et de sécurité correspondant au moins à celles qui sont d'usage pour la conservation et la gestion des archives publiques en Italie. L'IUE communique à la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne les modalités nécessaires pour la mise en œuvre de ces mesures ainsi que tout changement ultérieur de ces mesures.
2. Sans limiter la portée générale du paragraphe précédent, les archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne recevront une cote spécifique et seront rangées sous cette cote dans les magasins des archives de l'IUE.
3. Le transfert de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne sera effectué, avec des bordereaux de versement normalisés, à des intervalles à déterminer d'un commun accord entre les deux parties.
4. L'IUE s'engage à ne pas modifier le classement établi par la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne, et à ne pas éliminer ou détruire des documents ou pièces qui ont été déposés auprès de lui. En outre, l'IUE s'engage à garder entre ses mains l'ensemble des documents et pièces faisant partie des archives historiques qui ont été déposés auprès de lui en vertu de la présente décision.

[Signature] PE

5. L'IUE s'engage à inscrire dans un inventaire tous les dossiers et documents ainsi reçus et à remettre une copie écrite et informatique de cette inscription à la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne dans des délais raisonnables.
6. L'IUE digitalise ces dossiers et documents et les inclut dans une base de données susceptible d'être mise, en tout ou en partie, en ligne. Avant de donner l'accès à un document déposé, l'IUE sollicite l'autorisation de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
7. La Cour de justice de l'Union européenne et l'IUE sont chacun dépositaires des master copies des fichiers digitalisés des documents déposés.

IV. Responsabilité de l'IUE

1. L'IUE est responsable de la garde et de la conservation des archives historiques dès leur réception, à l'exception de toute responsabilité en cas de dégradation de tout ou partie des archives historiques causée par des catastrophes naturelles ou faits de guerre.
2. Sans préjudice de la responsabilité de l'IUE, la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne peut contracter des polices d'assurances couvrant ses documents contre le vol et les dégradations de toute sorte.
3. L'IUE est responsable de la sauvegarde des éventuels droits de propriété intellectuelle en cas de reproduction des documents.

V. Précisions sur les modalités d'ouverture

1. L'IUE est tenu de permettre l'accès aux archives historiques dans des conditions appropriées pendant les heures normales de travail.
2. Le dépôt des archives historiques auprès de l'IUE n'exclut pas que la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne rende elle-même accessible au public ses archives historiques sous forme de copies ou, au cas où elle dispose des originaux, sous forme d'originaux, si l'utilisateur fait valoir un intérêt particulier et dûment motivé à cet effet.

VI. Accès par les représentants de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne

1. Les représentants de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne dûment autorisés pourront consulter en priorité les archives historiques dans les locaux de l'IUE aux heures d'ouverture habituelles de celui-ci.
2. Sur demande d'un représentant de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne dûment autorisé, l'IUE s'engage à transmettre copie des documents par télécopieur ou par tout autre moyen. Les frais de télécopie sont à la charge de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.

VII. Prélèvement des archives historiques

1. Tout prélèvement de tout ou partie des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne déposés auprès de l'IUE ne sera possible qu'à des fins de digitalisation, de restauration ou d'exposition et sera soumis à l'accord écrit préalable de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
2. Toutefois, à la demande de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne, l'IUE s'engage à remettre dans les plus brefs délais les originaux de tous documents ou dossiers qui lui seront demandés. Ces originaux seront retournés à l'IUE dès que la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne n'en aura plus l'usage, à la diligence des services compétents de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne. Les frais d'expédition et d'assurance sont à la charge de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.

VIII. Informations

1. La Cour de justice de l'Union européenne autorise l'IUE à se déclarer dépositaire des archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
2. L'IUE établit annuellement un rapport d'activités qu'il transmet avant le 1<sup>er</sup> avril de chaque année à la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
3. L'IUE reconnaît à la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne le droit de se renseigner sur la bonne gestion de ses archives. Des réunions pourront être organisées auprès de l'IUE à l'initiative, soit de l'IUE lui-même, soit de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne en vue de résoudre des problèmes communs de gestion, ainsi que toute difficulté qui pourrait résulter de l'exécution de la décision de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne et du présent accord.
4. La Cour de justice de l'Union européenne se verra remettre chaque année par l'IUE un rapport succinct sur les consultations des archives historiques déposées.

La Cour de justice de l'Union européenne recevra copie de tout ouvrage, article, mémoire ou autre document effectivement remis par les utilisateurs qui auront consulté les archives historiques pour la réalisation de leurs travaux.

IX. Protection des données

1. En ce qui concerne le traitement des données personnelles, au sens du règlement (CE) n° 45/2001 du Parlement européen et du Conseil, du 18 décembre 2000, relatif à la protection des personnes physiques à l'égard du traitement des données à caractère personnel par les institutions et organes communautaires et à la libre circulation de ces données, qui sont contenues dans les archives historiques de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne déposées auprès de l'IUE, ce dernier n'agit qu'en tant que sous-traitant, au sens de l'article 2, sous e), dudit règlement, au nom et conformément aux instructions de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
2. L'IUE s'engage à ne sous-traiter aucune opération portant sur les données visées au paragraphe 1 sans avoir obtenu au préalable le consentement écrit de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
3. L'IUE respecte et protège le caractère confidentiel des données visées au paragraphe 1. Il limite l'accès auxdites données au personnel strictement nécessaire à l'exécution du présent accord et veille à ce que ce personnel ne les traite que selon les instructions de la Cour de justice de l'Union européenne.
4. L'IUE s'engage à adopter les mesures techniques et organisationnelles nécessaires pour garantir un niveau de sécurité approprié au regard des risques présentés par le traitement et de la nature des données personnelles à protéger, conformément aux exigences posées à l'article 22 du règlement n° 45/2001.

X. Durée de l'accord

1. Le présent accord est conclu pour une durée indéterminée.
2. Chacune des parties se réserve le droit de résilier le présent accord. La partie qui résilie l'accord en supporte les frais sauf si la décision de résiliation de l'accord est due à un manquement par l'autre partie aux obligations prévues au présent accord.
